Class History

In September 2004, the Class of 2008 entered Agawam High School as freshmen for the first time. We were young and innocent, staring up at the tall upperclassmen in awe. We studied the school map to prevent getting lost, struggled with our temperamental lockers, and learned that elevator passes were not really for sale. At our first pep rally, we attempted to sing the school song, lyrics in hand, while intimidated by the upperclassmen armed with Sharpies. As the year went by, Mrs. Armakovich and Ms. Davis became the proud advisors of our class. They hosted our Freshman Dance, which was attended by numerous students who all had a great time. Those memories would be the foundation of our years to come. Our class made it through a successful freshman year where the end of high school seemed a long ways away.

Sophomore year came in a flash as the majority of us turned sixteen. With the exciting new thrills of permits and driving, we felt as if we could do anything. And we did. Each one of us became involved in something, whether it was sports, clubs, or band. Our officers guided us through the introduction of the infamous IDs and the tension of the unavoidable MCAS tests. As the year came to a close, we could not believe that our journey was already half over. During the summer before our junior year, a tragedy devastated the Class of 2008. One of our own would not make it to graduation. Brenton may be gone, but he will always be remembered as a part of our class. This sudden loss of a classmate made us all appreciate the short four years that we had together at Agawam High.

Our class entered the halls as upperclassmen in the fall of 2006. Finally, we had escaped the fatal underclassmen title and had moved up. We were juniors. As music filled the halls each morning at Agawam High, we became preoccupied with PSATs and College Fairs. All of a sudden, our futures seemed to be coming closer. We participated in our first Powder Puff game against the reigning seniors. No touchdowns were made until the second half, where the opposing team made two. Unfortunately, we were not victorious, but were determined to win as seniors. Then in March, the Class of 2008 held their first Mr. Agawam competition, complete with formal wear and a talent contest. Our Vice President, Ryan Morrie, was victorious and crowned Mr. Agawam. On April 27th, the 2007 Prom was a truly Arabian Night complete with magic carpets and genie lamps. Another year was gone, and we came to the realization that we had only one year left at Agawam High.

We were seniors. We were now the oldest of the school, looking down at the timid freshmen, remembering being in their position four short years ago. It was hard to believe that this was our last year in high school. We tried to savor each moment through the whirlwind of SATs, college visits, and applications. We awaited our acceptance letters; some made it into their first choice while others had to readjust their plans. We celebrated as the immense pressure of getting accepted into college was lifted off our shoulders. Senioritis attempted to thwart our goals, but we were determined to complete our senior year without distractions. June came quickly, and suddenly, as each of us stood on that stage, in our caps and gowns, we reached our destination. We received our diplomas. We graduated. The Class of 2008 made it. We succeeded. We were ready to "let the good times roll."

Class of 2008

Brenton Charles Schivley

Feb. 24, 1990 - Sept. 1, 2006

Some people go through life searching for attention, always wanting all eyes on them. Others are content with their lives and never feel the need for attention. That was Brenton Schivley, the bright red-head in the back of class who was always smiling. He wasn't your popular star athlete. He was the intelligent kid who had a few great friends. That was all he needed.

Brenton and I were good friends for twelve years. We grew up five houses away from each other. He was always at my house - day and night. Brenton had a dry sense of humor, which helped him maintain his long-term friendships. He was always there if you needed help or just someone to put a smile on your face.

His best friend, who was like a brother to him, was Gyslain Turgeon. They were inseparable, always a little mischievous and getting into trouble.

Brenton was always fascinated by creating things. When we were little, we built sky-high castles out of Legos. In the cool autumn days, we made giant leaf piles and jumped into them from the limbs of a tree. In the winter, we went bumper sliding with all the kids in the neighborhood. Brenton always helped my mom bake or cook. His favorite dessert was Mountain Dew cake. There are so many great memories we all had with him, and that's what's important.

Unfortunately, we lost a valuable member of our senior class. Brenton will be greatly missed. We know that if he was still alive, he would have made a difference in this world.

- Erica Turgeon '08

*Cause the love and the laughter will live on long after
All of the sadness and the tears
We'll meet again, my old friend.
- "My Old Friend" by Tim McGraw*

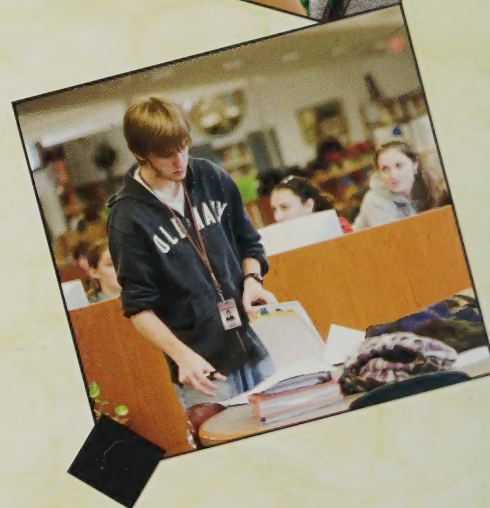

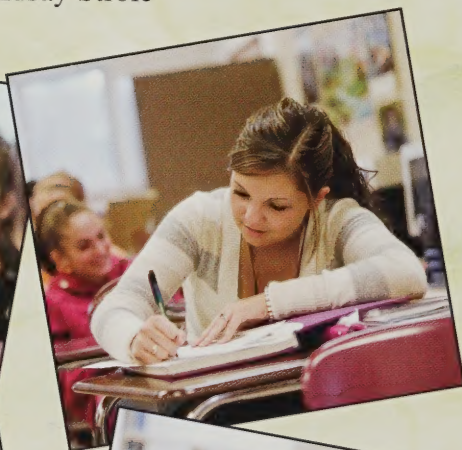

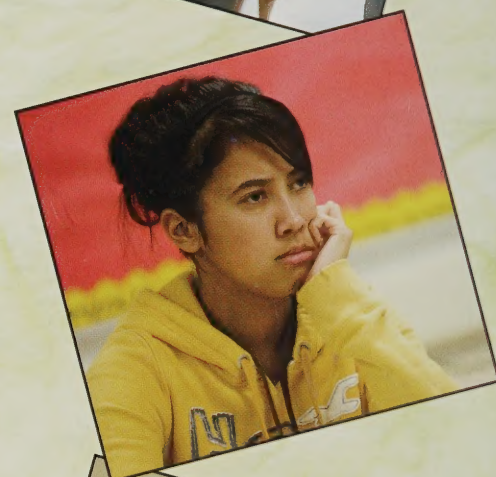

*To every thing there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven:
A time to be born, and a time to die;
A time to plant and a time to pluck up
what is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal;
A time to break down,
and a time to build up;
A time to weep and a time to laugh;
A time to mourn, and a time to dance;
A time to throw away stones,
and a time to gather stones together;
A time to embrace and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to seek, and a time to lose;
A time to keep, and a time to throw away;
A time to tear, and a time to sow;
A time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
A time to love and a time to hate,
A time for war, and a time for peace.
- Ecclesiastes 3:1-8*

Senior Spirit '08

Do you have the Brownie Pride?

Spirit, as defined by Webster's Dictionary, is "the enthusiasm and loyalty that somebody feels through belonging to a group." The Senior Class of 2008 has an immense amount of loyalty toward their alma mater, especially concerning school sporting events.

Go to a Friday night football game, or any other sporting event for that matter, and look in the stands. You will see students, a majority of them being Seniors, cheering on their friends and fellow classmates. Cheers such as 'Boom Chicka Boom', 'A-G-A-W-A-M', or the chanting of a player's name are started by the student body. Everyone dresses up in their orange and brown to represent Agawam and to let everyone else know where they are from.

The school spirit that this class shares is something no other class has had. It is something that is truly unique to the Seniors of 2008. When all is said and done, everyone puts their differences aside. We come together as a unit to cheer on "good old Agawam High!"

TEAR UP

TERRITORS

Summer '07

"I spent the summer working on my sweet tan."

- Katie Neilson

"My summer consisted of going to the beach and working out for my senior football season."

- Phil Scoville

*"Spring's sprung the sun's up and shinin'. School's out and everyone's smilin'."
- "Flip Flop Summer" by Kenny Chesney*

"The highlight of my summer was going to Cape Cod because I got to be with my best friends before senior year."

- Becky Colson

"My most memorable moment of summer '07 was seeing Akon in New York City."

- Frank Rigali

If you could take one teacher with you through your journey in life, who would it be and why?

"Mr. Jennings, because we would dominate any video game tourney."
- Joe Grimaldi

"Mrs. Santagate, because she could hold all my stuff in her big purple bag."
- Matt O'Brien

Where do you see yourself in ten years?

"Boston, going to the Sox games and eating clam chowder."
-Nick Sliech

"Graduated from college, working on my invention to keep you in stage five sleep longer so you can sleep less! And sure, I'll have to give Daley some credit on that one."
-Kristen Cardaropoli

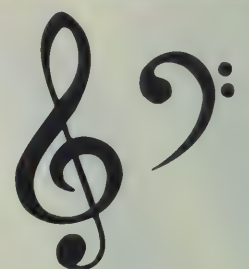

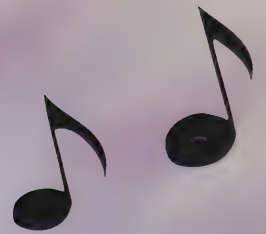

If you were to give advice to a new student at AHS, what would it be?

"Enjoy these four years. Each day seems really long, but when you look back, you will wish you had more time."
-Karissa Venne

"Don't be absent on activity picking day in P.E."
-Kayla Baker

QUESTION

What is the most important thing you learned in high school?

"Its okay to eat a few bugs at lunch in your buttered noodles... just a little extra protein never hurt anyone."

-Lindsay Jacks

"Be yourself and don't let anyone change you. Do what you can, because you can't please everyone."

-Andrew Randall

What is your favorite memory of AHS?

"Fed spraying Andrea Simmons with silly string because she asked if the DNA molecules had 'separation anxiety'."

-Lisa Hersey

"When Mr. Jennings fell backwards off of Mr. Murphy's desk chair onto the floor."

-Amanda Olmo

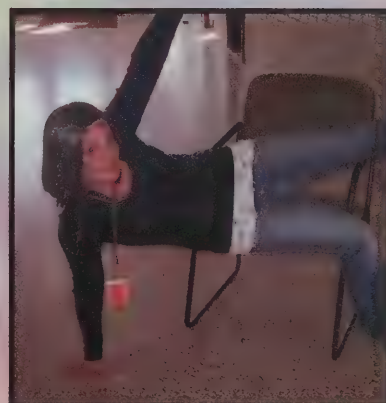

If you could sum up your life with a song title or movie, what would it be and why?

"Complicated, because hey, whose life isn't?"

-Heather Thompson

"The movie The Sisterhood of the Traveling Pants, because my friends are awesome and we always have fun together."

-Beth Hayden

& ANSWER

Then...

When we were in kindergarten, high school seemed far away. As we look back now, however, the years seem to have flown by. Most of us started out in either: Clark, Granger, Phelps, or Robinson. No matter where we began, we all made friends there. Life was so simple back then. Our biggest concern was to avoid catching cooties. Everyone got along and popularity did not matter. As we progressed through the years, we learned how much those friendships would mean to us. We also learned that everyone is not always nice to one another.

As we graduated from the fourth grade and moved through the middle school and junior high, we began to mature and come into our own identities. We gained new freedoms. We started to grow apart from the friends we met in kindergarten. We developed new and closer bonds with people with whom we shared interests.

"The nights were young and we swore we'd always be together"
- "The Nights Were Young" by Firehouse

Childish games of tag and M.A.S.H. came to an end. The personality of each individual began to shine as we prepared to enter high school. It seems like just yesterday when we began as timid freshmen, using our friends as a security blanket to get us through the year. However, as we completed our last three years here, many new friends and memories were created.

The stresses of college visits, applications and scholarships came to an end. We walked across the stage at graduation thinking back to when we were younger. We thought about the friends we used to have and still do, as well as the countless memories we would keep with us always. From then to now, the changes we experienced are immense. Through experiences and unforgettable memories, we have grown into unique individuals. We are mature, responsible adults.

& Now

"But we went our separate ways so we'll just have to remember"
"The Nights Were Young" by Firehouse

Friendship

Friendship is a precious thing
More valuable than gold
A treasure truly wonderful
For all to have and hold

Friendship can be catching as
A wonderful disease
And you can help spread it if
You do your best to please

Friendship is intangible
And yet a solid thing
If only by a postal card
Or when the phone may ring

Friendship is enduring and
An everlasting part
Of everything that brightens life
And warms the human heart

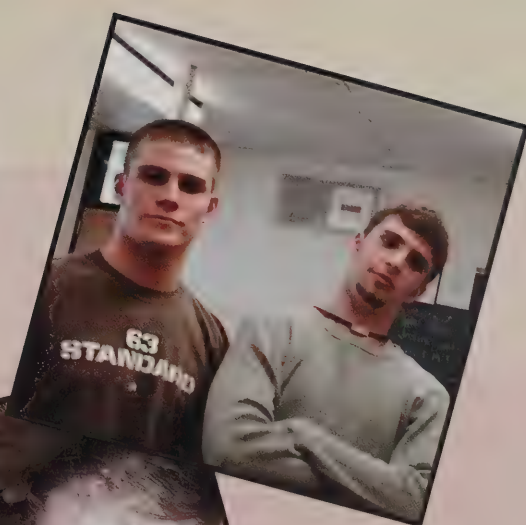

A friend is one
Who takes you by the hand
Who listens to your troubles and
Who tries to understand

It is not an easy thing to find
A friend along the way
I mean the friend whose smile extends Beyond a single day

So let us treasure every friend
Who we may call our own
Without that blessing on this earth
We would all be alone

The 2008 Class Will

- I, Nicholas Matthew Abraham, leave Mr. Trahan some sanity.
I, Mikhail Adzhigirey, leave you all more fun than I had.
I, Krystina Albano, leave Brigitte Bobbi a smile. Remember always to be happy. To Zach, I leave lane three. Take it to the Olympics with you. Holly, I leave you my lucky swim locker.
I, Daniel Anderson, leave Vinnie the corner and to Ryan, the section. Good luck!
I, Kalyn Austin, leave Vic Ronca and Mike Rigali one more crazy year at AHS. Live it up boys!
I, Carm Aversa, leave good times to little Ryan Mesick via Trestle and possibly the stickers from my locker, if he's lucky.
I, Emily Baker, leave Brendan three more great years.
I, Kayla Baker, leave two more years at AHS to Gina and Greg. Good luck. I leave all my weird lunch foods to Matt and Jarett. I love you both. I leave my utmost respect to Mr. Murray, Mr. Benkert, and Mr. Janik.
I, Christina Barbarisi, leave Meg and Brig one more year. Squeebz, I leave you my tennis racket. To my juniors, you're almost done. Make the best of it.
I, Brett Barker, leave the number eight, Coach Feely to have a winning season, and another great year for baseball.
I, Jessica L. Beroth, leave the cross country team to Anna, Becca, Ally, Maxine, Jenny, and Sarah. Dominate.
I, Samantha Black, leave my sister Alli my car and one more year. Have fun.
I, Christine Lillian Blanchard, leave Sammi my locker and David three more years. Good luck! I'm leaving behind the best times of their lives. It goes fast.
I, Carisa N. Bobskill, leave Corinne and Meg one more year at AHS. Make it a good one.
I, Kimberly Bock, leave Mikey Rigali, Vic Ronca, and Angelo Depalma one more crazy year at AHS.
I, Phillip Boglisch, leave two more years at AHS for Dalton with an extended day.
I, Jennifer A. Bouley, leave Gianna and my sister Nikki one more year! Enjoy it!
I, Megan L. Boylan, leave Agawam High to my brother, only three more years Mitch. Have fun!
I, Khristina Brodowski, leave nothing but good times for the remaining classes!

- I, Lukas W. Bromley, leave the low brass to Dan, Brian, Alyssa, Eric, and Greg. I leave two more years to Justin and one more year to Russell, and three more years to Sam.
I, Brittney E. Bryant, leave my brother Mike my wonderful driving skills. To my cousin Brandon, good luck only three more years.
I, Khalima I. Bubuzza, leave Fatima two more years of high school.
I, Vincent M. Buiso, carry with me everything I learned here and hope to lead a great life. I leave two more years to Luke Dynasty. I leave the robotics team 1000 hours.
I, Nicole C. Cameron, leave Robinson Park to Mandy, Friendly's trips to Erin and to Alex, all the writing for Rosie. To everyone else, I leave the good times and the fond memories.
I, Eric J. Cancelliere, leave the saxophone section to Kim, Magic Club to Erik, and the Eric Alliance to the new Erics of the school.
I, Kaitlee S. Caplette, leave Chelsea Theroux crazy times and memories and Mike Rigali one more year at AHS.
I, Kristen Cardaropoli, leave one more year to Becca and Em and six more to the little brother. The stickers in my locker and my Capocane title, to the next generation.
I, Kim Cartwright, leave four years to my sister Kelsie. Have fun and stay out of trouble!
I, Mackenzie Lynn Cassidy, leave Brig and Carin one more year without me. To Erik, Mars, and Tommy, someone else's hair to mess up.
I, Shannon H. Colby, leave Ryan my locker, the word "diddles" and two more years. Make the best of them. I leave Taryn the number six.
I, Joseph A. Colitti, leave Chris three more years of fun and the f-bombs. The fence laps, I leave to the baseball team.
I, Rebecca L. Colson, leave the high school to all the underclassmen. Enjoy it, because it flies by.
I, David Cook, leave Dirt McGirt!
I, Kara S. Cooke, leave one year to my girl, Nikki Gaines. Hang in there hunny!

I, Kaitlin Neilsen, leave Jackie great times ahead.

I, Natalya Novik, leave my lucky locker room to my sister.

I, Matthew J. O'Brien, leave my wonderful charm and good looks to the underclassmen, because I don't need them anymore. Stay classy guys.

I, Kaitlyn M. O'Connell, leave Sean O'Connell three more great years.

I, Nora O'Connell, leave little Suska one more year at Agawam High.

I, Amanda L. Olmo, leave Jamie my section, the band best bus rides, one good piccolo, and the piano man. To Taryn, I leave random play but I'm taking the memories with me.

I, Jonathan Ottomaniello, leave the good baritone to Greg, the magic club to Good Moe, and my locker to the next low brass captain.

I, Erica M. Pacheco, leave the writing on my locker door to the next kid, and anything else I left in it.

I, Autumn Paro, leave my memories to my brother, Austin, and I leave the Robotics Team to the underclassmen.

I, Neil N. Patel, leave my ununlockable locker, #558, to anyone that needs it.

I, Tejendra R. Patel, leave these words: "The Class of 2008 who has gone through a fun and exciting senior year at AHS and is ready to go on to the future."

I, Frank E. Payeur, leave behind the Agawam Top 40's, as an opportunity for kids to express themselves.

I, Jessica Peck, leave AVV to dominate Western Mass Volleyball. I also leave two more years to my cousin Jake. Good luck.

I, Marc Penna, leave Schmlintez to Ryan, Ryan to Whitey, the rotunda to Brie, our lucky tile to Britt, and everything else under the Tuscan sun to Franq.

I, Joseph M. Phillips, leave Regina my locker.

I, Matthew C. Pittenger, leave a few more years at AHS to my friends and sister. Have fun people.

I, Bryana L. Prout, leave Matt Rannenburg domination in drama. To Gina and Amanda, I leave all my love!

I, Andrew Randall, leave my baseball jerseys to next years baseball team (#5 and #15) and my golf shirt and bag to next year's golf team.

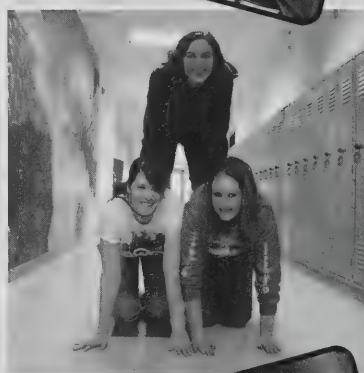

I, Moria Reardon, leave my brother four years. I leave Colleen King an apron, some baking soda, and numies.
 I, Kelsey Reed, leave #1107 to the lucky upcoming freshman.
 I, Francesco G. Rigali, leave Joey Toad the linebackers, and to Michael, I leave the Berb.
 I, DeAnna Ronca, leave the softball field to Rachel and Taylor and luck to Vic, Ant and Nika.
 I, Carla Rosati, leave my sister Ang with two years. I leave my locker to the lucky freshman who gets it.
 I, John G. Rossi, leave one more year to Gabby, J-Lazz, Vic and Graham. I leave the basketball team to Vic, Graham and Schnepf.
 I, Kayla Ruhl, leave locker #1171 to the lucky freshman that receives it.
 I, Ashley Ann Sadowski, leave Lindsay three more years! Have fun.
 I, Jessica Saimeri, leave Girls' Varsity Soccer good luck in the years to come.
 I, Lucia Ann Santaniello, leave Ant one more year of good times. To Nika, I leave three more!
 I, Philip Scoville, leave Justin Chartier all my earthly possessions and the will to win next year.
 I, Nimish N. Shah, leave "As Schools Match Wits" the hope of a tournament win.
 I, Margaret E. Sheehan, leave Jill Cottonwood Lane. I leave Toni. Never mind! And I'm taking blue and orange with me. LOL.
 I, Bryan J. Shields, leave a touch of my charismatic spirit and good will to Tom, Dom, Mark, Nate, Cro, Tori, Justin, Casey, and the rest of those who still have school!
 I, Andrea Simmons, leave Evan and Matt no ride to McDonald's and my locker full of Clifford confetti to the lucky freshman who gets it.
 I, Nicholas Sliech, leave my locker to the next person to get it.
 I, Amber V. Smith, leave locker number #1256, four years of fun, and good times to some freshman.
 I, Joseph Stano, leave Counos a great senior year.
 I, Danielle Stelma, leave Matt three more years. Mich, T, and De the team, Alli and Becca, I leave one more year of torturing Pryce. To Maxine and Becca, I leave more beds to break. To Ally, I leave swings.
 I, Anthony Stork, leave four years of shoes to fill to my little brother, and to the wrestling team, a challenge to be better every year.
 I, Lindsay Strole, leave my Pink Floyd shirt in one of the lockers. If you find it, I want it back.
 I, Alyssa Suchenicz, leave Jacob Garfield one more year. Good luck. Make the best of it.
 I, Maryna Sukhyna, leave my locker to my brother, Sergiy, and one more year at AHS to Christina, Sergiy and Valentina. Have fun.
 I, Stephen Teixeira, leave five more years to my sister. Good luck with them all.
 I, Gary Theroux, leave two more good years to Nikki and locker #1918 to the freshman who gets it.

I, Heather Thompson, leave behind locker #1319 to any lucky freshman who gets it.
 I, Justin Timmons, leave the cross country team a promise that we will blaze again.
 I, Sapa Truong, leave Douglas Telford, Lisa Hersey.
 I, Erica M. Turgeon, leave Gianna one more year to graduate. Also, I leave my lucky spandex and the red tent story to my lax girls.
 I, Jennifer M. Turner, leave good luck to Agawam Gymnastics! Always have fun and remember to skip the salad!
 I, Karissa Venne, leave three more great years to Kelsey and good luck to all present and future Peer Leaders.
 I, Aleksander Verbetsky, leave the AHS track pole vault team with confidence that you will win more. Dan and Igor, have fun bros. You're almost done.
 I, Dan Vershon, leave the Kool-Aid dispenser to Conner Wytrych.
 I, John Viens, leave the juniors our place of seniority in the school. Word!
 I, David Vilkhovoy, leave these words: "Enjoy your high school years. Once it's over, it's over." Mike, take it easy. Toly, good luck on Thanksgiving Day next year.
 I, Andrea Marie Walsh, leave my pepper partner, Caitlin Paulin, one more good year at AHS and in volleyball. Kristin, Regina, Laken, and Jess, I leave good luck!
 I, Daniel W. Walsh, leave all of you a little piece of my heart.
 I, Sean Walsh, leave the hockey team to Kev to dominate the playoffs.
 I, Stephen A. Walsh, leave the Eagles presence forever lingering in these hallways. May he never be forgotten.
 I, Chris Walters, leave the call of the eagle to echo the hallways for all of eternity.
 I, Anthony P. Watt, leave everyone this word of advice, "Impossible is nothing. Live your life and you will succeed."
 I, Andrew J. White, leave #31 to the upcoming batch of Brownies.
 I, Ashley Taylor Williams, leave Cory hopefully three more years at AHS. Make it fun while it lasts!
 I, James Williamson, leave Matt Graham all the girls.
 I, Sean Yarymowicz, leave my stinky locker to the next poor soul who gets it.
 I, Alyssa K. Yelinek, leave my parking space to my awesome cousin Kyleigh! Also, two more great years at Agawam High School! Kyleigh and Morgan, good luck with everything! You guys better take care of Jeff next year!
 I, Eleni Zouridakis, leave behind locker #1399 for some unfortunate freshman. I also leave the honor of being the last person in the school alphabetically.

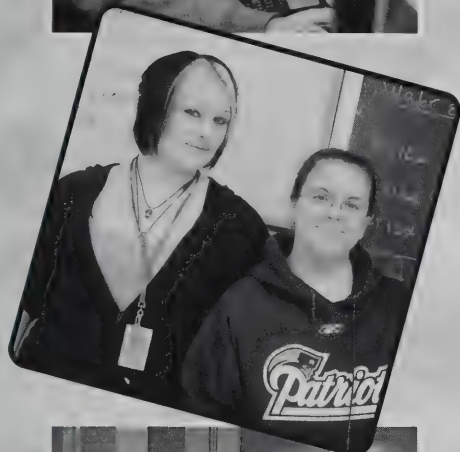

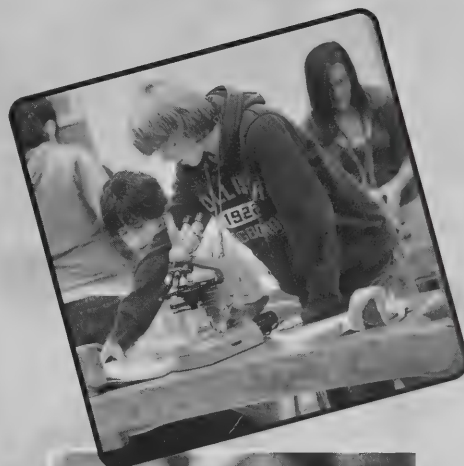

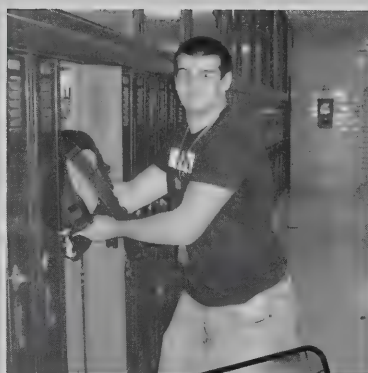

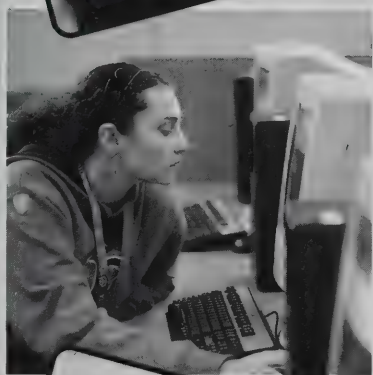

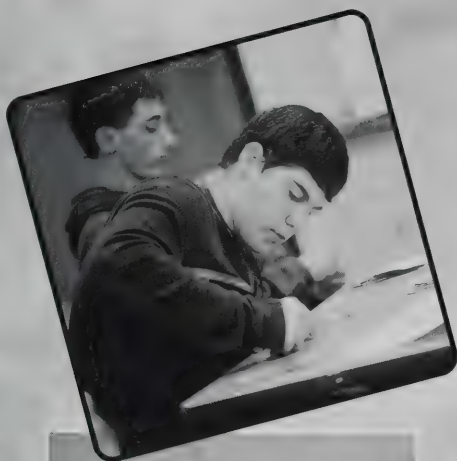

Underclassmen

Before one can become a glamorous, over-confident senior, a high school student must inevitably undergo the trials and tribulations of an underclassman. From freshmen who do not know any better than to carry around backpacks that weigh twice as much as they do, to sophomores still searching for that swimming pool on the roof they heard about freshman year; these years are filled with confusion and learning experiences. The junior class is on the brink of becoming leaders, but still need another year to fine-tune their control before they are ready to take on the role of seniors. Each class continues to grow both physically and mentally throughout their years at AHS, and gains more knowledge of what is expected of them in high school. The boundaries of different classes do not hold these students back from becoming friends and sharing memories. The underclassmen form lasting friendships that make their experience more enjoyable for everyone. Although a lot of these individuals are still wondering where they can buy their elevator passes, the knowledge gained is enough to get them ready for what is to come.

Academics are important to everyone. Studying for your next test or final is a great way to boost your grades.

Whether it's cheering on the football team, or goofing around in school, the underclassmen of Agawam High certainly know how to have fun.

Everyone looks forward to lunch. We get to see all of our friends. We share stories, laugh, and joke around with them. Best of all, we get to eat!

Senora Sasso

Linda Sasso, also known as Senora by her Spanish students, is beloved and respected by all who know her. She has been teaching for thirty-four years, twenty-six in the Agawam Public Schools. In those years, she has worked her way up to the Academic Coordinator for our Foreign Language Department, a position she has definitely earned. Students thoroughly enjoy her lessons because of the amusing anecdotes and the personal touches that she adds to them. Since she has taught at the high school for a good amount of time, many of our current teachers are past students of Senora.

Not only does she teach and inspire her many classes, but she also gives much of her time to after school activities. Senora is the only founding faculty member of Renaissance who remains at AHS. She has also advised Peer Leadership for ten years. She now leads the Spanish National Honor Society, in addition to co-advising the National Honor Society. Senora is also co-chair of the high school accreditation committee, which is an enormous commitment.

From all of us who have had the privilege of knowing her, we would like to thank her for everything that she has done. Somehow, words just do not seem to be enough.

"As my teacher, she inspired me. As a teacher, she inspires me still."
- Senora Kolodziej

"En el mundo de hoy, es difícil a encontrar a unos maestros quienes pueden enseñar como escribir ensayos sin sus estudiantes que duermen. Fortunadamente, nosotros tenemos la Senora y no podemos dormir mientras estamos tratando de evitar su latigo."
- Nicholas Abraham

Ms. Wolochowicz

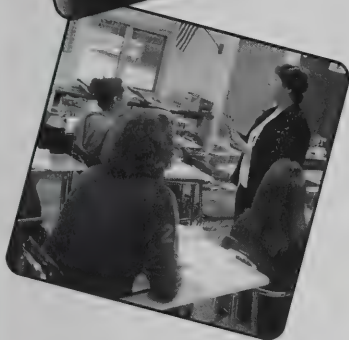

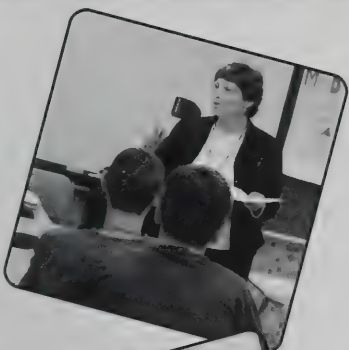

Mary Wolochowicz is an intelligent and caring teacher who shares her love and knowledge of science with her students every day. Her unwavering enthusiasm and excitement for the subject helps her students enjoy biology as much as she does. In her thirty-five years of teaching here at AHS, she has taught every type of science class we have. She would gladly teach them all again except for chemistry. "I don't do fire, children, and chemicals," she says. Her knowledge goes beyond the classroom as well. Justin Timmons found this out when she saved his ailing plant. He now thinks she is "the best teacher on the face of the Earth."

As the Academic Coordinator for the Science Department, this dedicated teacher gives the same concern and support to her faculty as well. Many of the current faculty members actually had her as a teacher when they were in high school, which includes a large number of our current science teachers. She also loves coaching the AHS Girls' Tennis Team, as much as she loves teaching science. Her athletes constantly rave about her great coaching skills, which she not only uses to teach them the game, but also to add enjoyment to the sport.

We will all be sad to see her go. We thank her for all that she has contributed to make the lives around her better.

"Ms. Wolochowicz is an amazing teacher and coach. She pushes her students and athletes to their highest potentials. Agawam High is really going to miss her."
- Christina Barbarisi

"Mary is one of the most fair, consistent, and dynamic teachers I have ever met. I have known her for thirty years and she has been a steady influence on me and other members of the Science Department. I am sorry to see her retire, but extremely happy for her. Her friendship and leadership will be greatly missed at AHS. Best of luck Ms. W!"
- Mr. Vecchiarelli

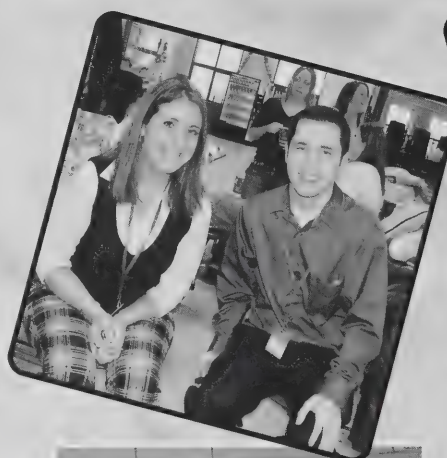

The Faculty

An unknown author once stated, "Teaching is the profession that teaches all other professions." Patience, persistence, and diligence are all qualities that are needed to be a great teacher. Fortunately, here at Agawam High School, we are lucky to have teachers that fit this description perfectly. They go above and beyond what is required of them as teachers, along with their many responsibilities and tasks.

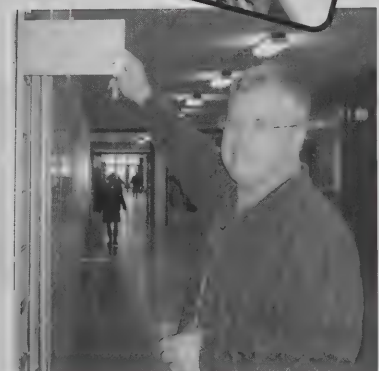

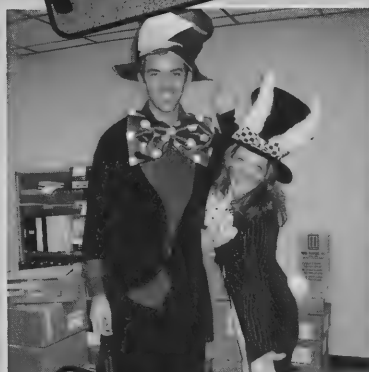

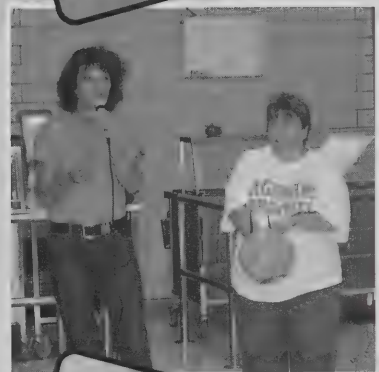

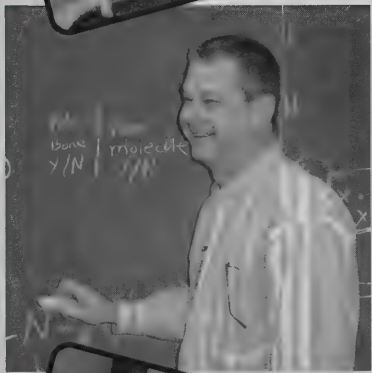

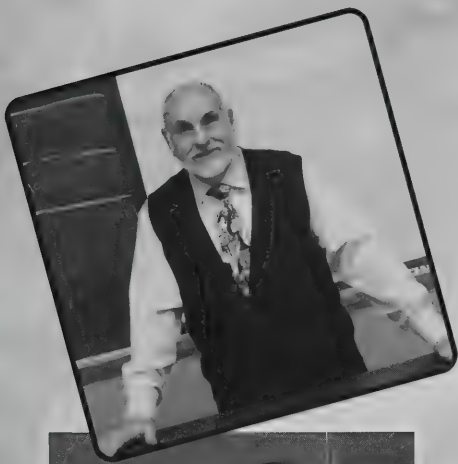

The late nights spent correcting papers and coming up with lesson plans are a enormous work load in themselves. Grading papers, writing notes, and offering extra help after school are enough to make anyone's head spin. Adding the task of making sure every student is following school policies can be stressful and hectic. In addition to all that they do for their own students, they sacrifice much of their personal time to advise after school clubs, coach sports teams, and help out with various committees. Our teachers are very involved in the community and also in the lives of their students.

Our entire faculty staff deserves the utmost respect and recognition for all they do for their students. Be sure to appreciate the outstanding faculty at AHS, and do not be afraid to thank them.

They may be the givers of grades, difficult tests, and a lot of homework, but when it comes down to it, these teachers still know how to have fun.

The AHS teachers really give their extra effort in all that they do. They take on a multitude of tasks in addition to just teaching.

Whether the students want to admit it or not, Agawam High School definitely has some of the coolest teachers and administrators around.

Special Events

When one looks back on their high school experiences, the best memories are the ones that were created with friends. This is the reason special events are so important.

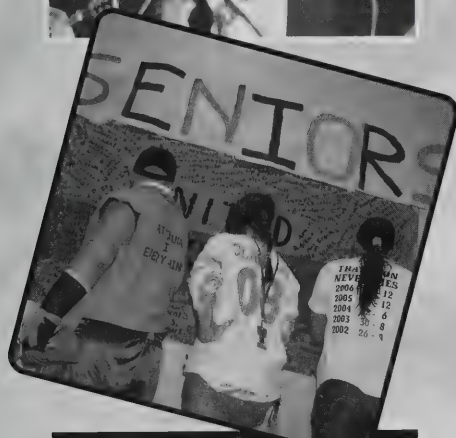

These major social events include the Prom and Kid Party. Prom 2007 proved to be a magical night filled with delicious food followed by partying on the dance floor. During the Senior Kid Party, the seniors were able to let loose and goof around a little bit with their friends, for a night filled with crazy costumes and fun-filled dancing.

Opportunities were abound during Thanksgiving week. Orange and Brown Day was yet another opportunity to display wild school spirit, with eager students ready to belt out their school song and show their Agawam pride. The Football Team was able to continue its never-failing tradition of putting West Side in their place at the Thanksgiving Day game with a another win. The Powder Puff game was a close match-up, with the junior girls taking the win in the end.

The creativity of our students lead to other events. The entertaining play "Charlie Brown" was performed by the Drama Club. Top 40, or Agawam Spotlight, was a night filled with musical talent for the school's listening pleasure.

These events are a chance for students to get all they can out of their high school experience. Spending time with the ones they have grown so close to over the years combined with an unforgettable event is something that everyone will remember long after they receive their diplomas.

The special events at the high school give the student body a chance to see the special talents of their friends, whether it's musical, athletic, or even some remarkable dancing skills, as demonstrated by Blake above.

Prom 2007

"A Whole New World, A Dazzling Place"

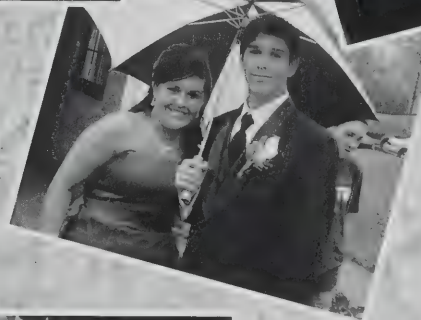

The excitement and anticipation built as students prepared for the biggest social event of the year, the Junior-Senior Prom. Held Friday, April 27th at the Log Cabin in Holyoke, the over 420 guests were amazed by the theme of "Arabian Nights." A colorful, jewel-toned flower arrangement, complete with peacock feathers and Genie lantern, adorned each table. Favors included a bag of chocolate gold coins, a custom picture frame, and photo key chains. In addition, all evening long, couples posed for pictures in the cabana complete with hand-sewn silk pillows, authentic Moroccan lanterns, and palm trees.

After a delightfully delicious dinner, the party got started as we took to the dance floor. Although the dance floor was crowded, due to the sell-out crowd, everyone seemed to enjoy the special evening.

Much thanks goes to the dedicated prom committee, the parent volunteers, especially Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Henry, and advisor, Mr. Trahan. It was truly a dazzling place.

The Prom Court consisted of Sultannah Kelly Poirier, Sultan Zan Frederick, Crown Prince Stephen Ferrigno and Genie Nicole Desimone. All posed for pictures after being crowned.

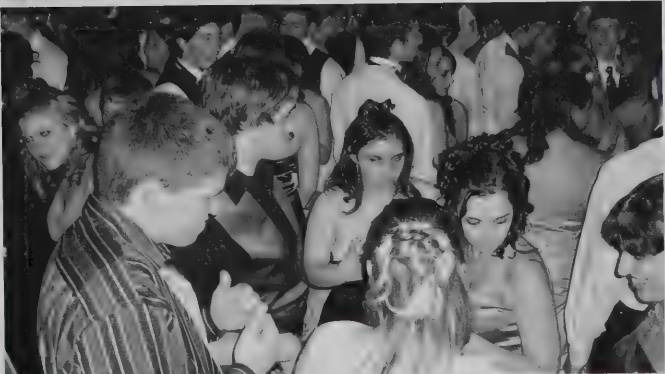

*"Every long lost dream lead me to where you are Others who broke my heart they were like northern stars
Pointing me on my way into your loving arms"

2007 Prom Committee included Chairman, Meghan Henry, as well as Assistant Chairs, Caitlin Grimaldi and Autumn Paro. The committee members included Amanda Bessette, Nicole Cameron, Katherine Sanders, and Alexander Sterling. Numerous other students and parents also assisted to make the evening magical.

That led me straight to you"

Orange & Brown Day

Thanksgiving Pep Rally

"Joyous and Ever Loyal"

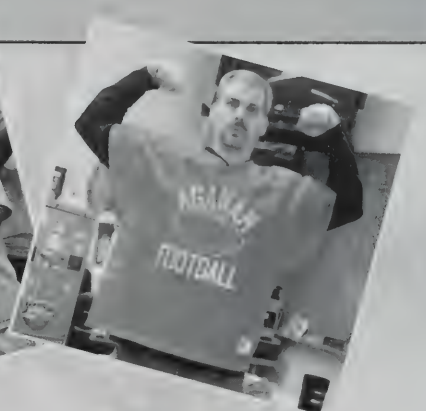

Orange and Brown Day is most of the students' favorite day of the school year. It is the day where students show their school spirit by wearing orange and brown, painting their faces and decorating their section of the gymnasium with banners, posters, streamers and balloons. Although the preparation is fun, the excitement begins when everyone assembles in the gym and stands in the bleachers with their class. As one walks in, the band is playing and the sound of the students cheering is overwhelming. The cheerleaders also put on a spectacular performance. Then it's time for the competition to begin. Each class sings the school song at the top of their lungs, trying to beat the other three classes in volume.

This year, as Ryan Morrie made clear, the freshman actually knew what they were doing, but still did not have enough to challenge the other classes. During the second round, the sophomores beat out the juniors for a chance to go head to head with the seniors for the win. The seniors wrapped up the competition and brought everything they had to the table. They overtook the Class of 2010 in an intense spirit battle and became the 2007 Pep Rally Champs.

Despite the threats, this year's Pep Rally was the best AHS had seen in years. Orange and Brown Day created many memories for everyone. It is definitely one of the days that they will remember for many years to come.

Thanks to the respected men and women of the Agawam Police Department, we were able to have a very safe and enjoyable Orange and Brown Day. These people, many who are alumni of AHS, volunteered their time to provide security at the rally after threats were made against the school.

Powder Puff Game

The Girls Gave It Their All

The Senior Team

Above: These senior girls' spirits were high with the hopes of winning the game and defeating the juniors. They wanted to carry on the tradition again this year!

"Dude Looks Like A Lady"

Powder Puff usually takes place the night before Pep Rally, where the juniors play the senior girls in a two hand touch football game.

To prepare for the big game the girls really worked hard. They had many tiring practices in the month before the game. They quickly learned all the necessary plays from their coaches. These brave junior and senior girls were determined to show the boys how the game of football should really be played.

Due to inclement weather, the actual Powder Puff Game was rescheduled, and the turn out was not as good as previous years. This year the game took an unusual turn when the juniors won 12 to 6. If one asks any senior, though, the score was 37 to -35, seniors. Although the score was not what the seniors may have expected, a good time was had by all.

These girls and their coaches are excited after an underdog victory over the seniors. They really gave it everything they had and it paid off. This was the first time in years that the juniors have triumphed over the seniors.

Kid Party

"You Make Me Feel Like Dancing"

College applications, report cards, homework, and exams are all causes of stress and anxiety that consume students throughout their senior year. Life-changing decisions must be made, and these seniors need to start acting like adults with more responsibility than ever. So, what could be better than having one night to forget it all? What more does any senior wish for at the point of exhaustion and aggravation at filling out all those grueling college applications? All one wants at this point is to be a kid again, without the countless worries that must be dealt with today.

This year's Senior Kid Party, held on Friday, November 16th, proved to be one night where students were able to let loose and let their wild sides show. Students got creative with their costumes, ranging from a visit from Hulk Hogan and his family, to the members of the Village People. The characters from Clue also made an appearance, along with groups of doctors, SWAT team members, fairies, punk-rockers, and even the Anchorman news team. Pretty soon the dance floor came alive and everyone was having fun.

*"You've got the essence, dear
If I could have a second skin
I'd probably dress up in you"
- "Dress Up In You" by Belle & Sebastian*

The DJs provided everyone with wonderful music, taking many song requests from students throughout the night. Class advisors Ms. Davis and Mrs. Armakovitch were there to make the night possible, along with chaperones Ms. Moriarty, Mr. Tatro, Mrs. Mouneimneh, Mr. Schnepp, and Mrs. Feyre. This night was an all-around success that no senior will soon forget.

"You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown"

The High School Musical

"Happiness"

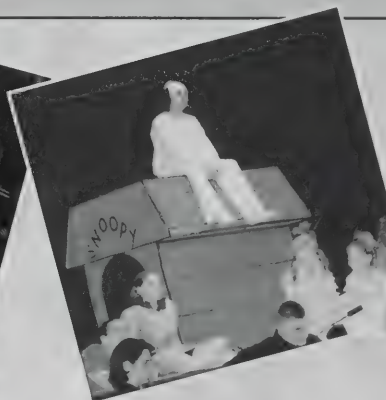

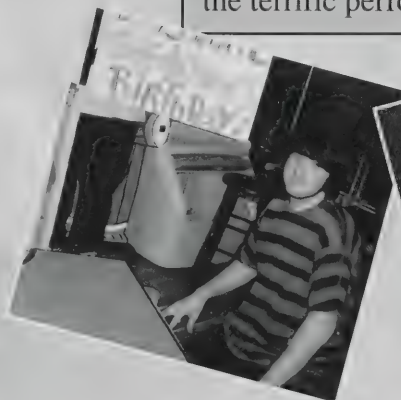

What does it take to put together a musical at Agawam High? Ask any of the cast members from "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" and they will tell you. Long nights of dedication to memorize songs, lines, and choreography are just some of the elements to prepare for a musical production. The talented group of singers and actors were rounded up from Ms. Funk and Mrs. Vallon-Jackson's Honors Chorus and Play Production classes. After the auditions, the main cast was chosen. Malcolm Medina starred as Charlie Brown. Lisa Couture played Lucy. Emily Baker was Sally. Zan Frederick was Linus. Nathan Lovotti was Schroder. The most popular role, Snoopy, was played by Nick Dassatti. In and after school rehearsals took place nearly every day during the three months of production time, with the occasional full Saturday rehearsal. The cast worked hard on stage to get the scenes down while the stage crew and art department created a great set.

Finally March 29th, 2007, opening night, was here. The stage was set and the actors could feel their nerves jumping around. The moment they had been waiting for had finally arrived. They got through opening night with very few bumps. The musical was performed two more times on that Friday and Saturday. There was a lot of hard work and effort put in by all, especially from directors Ms. Funk and Mrs. Vallon-Jackson. The results were great and everyone was pleased with the terrific performances.

*"You're a good man, Charlie Brown
You're the kind of reminder we need
You have humility, nobility, and a sense of honor
That is very rare indeed"
- "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown"*

Left: Everyone joins in on singing about what a good man Charlie Brown really is, but he just does not believe it.

Agawam Spotlight

"We Will Survive"

On November 8, 2007, the Agawam High School auditorium was filled with students, faculty, and family members to watch the numerous musical talents at this year's AHS Spotlight. The show would not have been possible without the amazing organization and collaboration of those who volunteered their time, especially director Ms. Funk. Sophomore Caity Simpson sang "I'll Stand by You" flawlessly. Two newcomers, Freshmen Kelsey Venne and Mary Kate Cavallo, blew the crowd away with their duet "For Good." A sophisticated and theatrical performance was given by Sophomore Brigitte Barnhart when she sang "Diamonds Are a Girls Best Friend." Senior Emily Baker sang "Call Me When You're Sober" while her powerful vocals filled the auditorium. There was a standing ovation when Senior Frank Payeur played and sang "Whipping Post." Sirosis and Sustain also played in this year's Spotlight, both with original songs. And of course, the show could not have been complete without the witty MCs: Seniors Buddy Hebert and Chris Walters, and Junior Ryan Muller. Overall, the performance was packed with the countless talents of AHS students, where they definitely passed on the message that "We Will Survive."

Spring Sports

As the weather gets warmer, the competition heats up with Baseball, Softball, Tennis, Volleyball, Lacrosse, as well as Track and Field. In the spring season of 2007, the sun was stronger than ever when Baseball, Softball, Girls' Tennis, Volleyball, Girls' Lacrosse, and both Track and Field Teams made it to their respective Western Mass Tournaments. The Boys' Volleyball Team was the only team that brought home the trophy, but the other teams held their own and excelled throughout the season. The Softball Team beat our arch rivals, the West Springfield Terriers, for a chance at the semi-finals. The Baseball Team also went to the semi-finals. Making a strong showing at Western Mass, the Girls' Lacrosse Team made it all the way to the finals. The Girls' Tennis Team competed in the quarter-finals, where they unfortunately lost. The Track and Field Teams represented our school and the girls' team captured fourth place. The spring season was full of great games and competition that ended the 2007 school year on a high note.

Whether it be tennis, track, baseball, softball or lacrosse, these players really gave it their all and showed off their amazing talents.

GO AGAWAM! They couldn't have done it without the immense support of our school. The fans showed their dedication and loyalty all the way to the end.

Look at how these Brownies displayed their Agawam pride and fought harder than ever in every single game of the 2007 spring season.

"Take Me Out To The Ball Game"

The Agawam Boys' Varsity Baseball Team had an excellent season. Their team consisted of many strong and talented athletes with great determination. Nick Pioggia and Steve Donah took complete control of the pitcher's mound and struck out numerous opponents. However, the few hits that were made always found their way to Steve Carmody's glove. He excelled at the center field position and had a knack for catching fly balls. Junior catcher, Joe Colitti, added to the team's camaraderie. Junior Nick Grassetti was an offensive threat on the field and carried the team with his base hits.

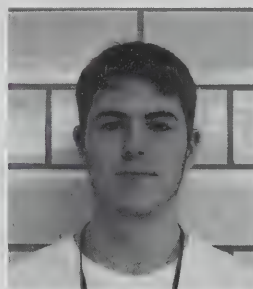

The boys' talents took them to the Quarter-finals, and their 16-4 record gave them the first seed. There, the team faced Chicopee, winning 4-2. However, in the Semi-finals, they faced Minnechaug, and unfortunately "lost 2-4. Many of the players felt that they should have made it further, but there's always next year. "We should have another great season next year, with four returning starters, a deep bench, and good upcoming talent," said Nick Grassetti. With their positive attitudes and aspirations, the team is bound to make a difference next year.

"Hit Me With Your Best Shot"

The 2007 Agawam Girls' Varsity Lacrosse Team dominated the field and battled until the end. Senior Captains Erin Theriault, Meghan Serra, Carly Keely, and Sarah Roos led the team to their victories. All four captains excelled at their positions. Erin, Carly, and Sarah racked up the goals while Meghan held back the defense on the other side of the field. Other key players included offensive threats Cori Geiger and Kayla Manzi, who assisted the team with their domination. Molly Nowill and Linda Fortunato also helped the team defensively. Junior Goalie Mary Michaud was absolutely unstoppable in the net. Their great team chemistry sent them to the Western Mass Finals where they faced Longmeadow. The game was a tough loss for the team. Overall, however, the season was a success.

"Hit 'Em High"

The 2007 Agawam Boys' Lacrosse Team had a tough year due to the departure of many of their top players. However, the boys kept their heads up and played to the best of their ability. Captains Zack Demers and Ryan Morrie kept them positive and motivated throughout the season. Together, the boys all played to their highest potential. Since it was a rebuilding year for the boys, the team consisted of many sophomores and freshmen which made them a little inexperienced at the varsity level, but they stuck it out until the end. Juniors Phil Scoville and Jim Mackin stepped up their game and anchored the defensive end of the field. Junior Adam Gonyeau added to their determination when he became a vital weapon on offense, and at the end of the season he was named All-League. Another asset to the team included Sophomore Goalie Mike Saccomani. He was aggressive in every aspect of the game. During the season there were a few injuries that caused the team to weaken. "It was a tough season, especially due to all the injuries that we sustained throughout the year. We stuck together though and were able to persevere until the end," said Morrie.

Adam Gonyeau

"We had good team chemistry. Everyone had fun, and we did a lot of things outside of school and practice as a team."

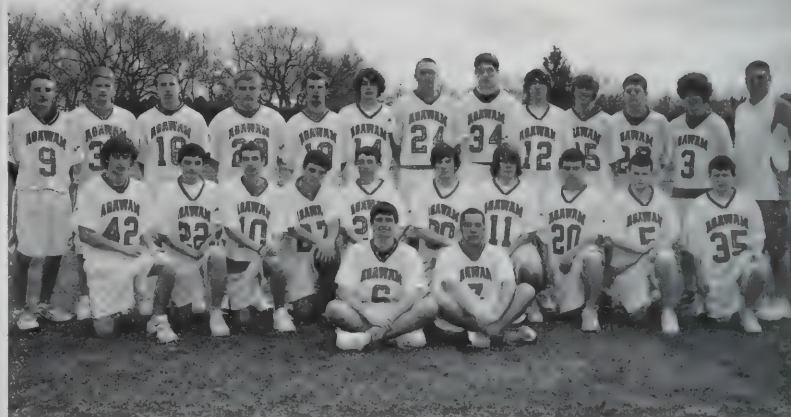

William Krach

"Next season we're going to be a good team, and we're looking to win the league."

Philip Scoville

The 2007 Agawam Girls' Softball Team came out strong and ready to win in 2007. Captains Julie Gorman, Amy Mantha, and Jamie Plamondon prepared the team for their battles on the field. Although they suffered two losses at the start, they progressed as a team throughout the year. "Our team chemistry was good", said Junior Pitcher Katey Figella. Katey also assisted the team with her impressive batting average along with Junior Amy Mantha.

Mantha's impressive skills led her to win Player of the Year for the season. Sophomore Taylor Hartmann was also a crucial ingredient to the team. It was the individual talents of the players that pushed them to the Semi-Finals. They put up a good fight against Westfield, but suffered with a loss. The Girls' Softball Team finished the season with a whopping 16-6 record. With a strong returning team, the girls are looking to win it all next season.

"Bad To The Bone"

The 2007 Agawam Girls' Tennis Team was "Bad to the Bone", the team's theme song this year. "Unlike past years, there were no standout players. Everyone was a key player for the team," said Coach Mary Wolochowicz. Five of the seven players this year were the seniors of 2007, including Captains Lauren Maloney and Sarah Devenitch. The girls ended their season at 7-9 and with a trip to the Western Mass Quarter-finals, where they faced Longmeadow. When they went up against them earlier in the season, they were able to win one set. This was a huge accomplishment for the girls since Longmeadow has dominated Western Mass for the past decade.

However, they were not so lucky when it came to the Quarter-finals, where they were defeated in all five sets. Next year there will be a lack of depth for the team. "We are losing five starting players, so next season will be tough. The girls really got along this season. It's going to be hard losing five key players and breaking up the bond between the team. Although next year will be a struggle; with dedication and hard work we'll get through it," said teammate Christina Barbarisi. The two returning starters, Nicole Desimone and Mahreen Hafeez, will be key to next year's team success. This will hopefully result in another playoff appearance.

Christina Barbarisi

"[My favorite memory of the season was] Coach Woloc breaking out the 'Bad to the Bone' button and dancing."

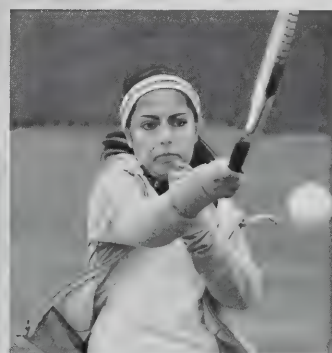

Mehreen Hafeez

"The team was like a big family this year, which made for a fun season."

Nicole Desimone

"I have high expectations for this season. Our players have been working hard and hopefully we will do well in the tournament."

Mehreen returns a ball over the net.

Lauren goes for a ball hit down the sideline.

Chelsea is looking cool as she practices for the big match.

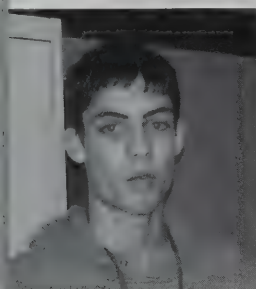

Nikki keeps her eye on the ball as she returns the serve.

"Grand Slam Man"

The Agawam Boys' Tennis Team started out with a new coach in 2007, Coach Tad Desautels. Although the team went 2-12 for the season, they had some standout matches and many talented players. Their second win of the season was against top-ranked, West Springfield, where they won 3-2. They also had a thrilling match against Westfield, and although they lost 2-3, it was a major accomplishment to stay with a team of so much talent.

There were seven key players that contributed greatly to the team. These seven were Captain Houssam Lazkani, Evan Wescott, Kyle Labonte, Bryan Shields, Corey Moquin, Brandon Fifield and Jeremy Lathrop. Next season looks very promising with all but one of these seven returning. "I believe we will have a solid team and improve a lot from our previous years. Hopefully we will have a winning season," said team member Jeremy Lathrop.

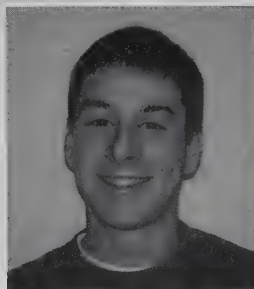

Corey Moquin

"Our team had great chemistry. We all got along well and had a good time."

Houssam Lazkani

"This season was more of a rebuilding season. Although it wasn't our greatest season, we all improved."

Jeremy Lathrop

"This upcoming season will be the best we had in years. We have a solid team that's been together since freshman year."

Sean keeps the rally going.

Corey is ready for the serve.

Artur works on his game.

Houssam sets a great example for the team.

For the Agawam Boys' Track Team, both the athletes and the coaches for the 2007 season were up for the challenge. Coaches Joe Bianca and Christopher Benjamin were ready to try new drills to get their team in tiptop shape. "My goal this season was to develop all of them as leaders, to have them come together as a team and support each other and to also have fun," said Coach Bianca. The season started out slow as they lost their first three meets, until they tied with top ranked team, Amherst. This boosted the team's morale which helped them to beat Westfield in their next meet. The boys finished their season at 1-4-1. The team was led by four strong captains, Mike Andrews, Adam Zelisko, Adam Witte and Blake Dutilly. These four outstanding athletes were major point scorers throughout the season and a huge asset to the team. Also, helping out in the scoring department were teammates Justin Chartier, Joseph King, Justin Timmons and Brandon Learned. "Next year looks great, they have tremendous potential and I would put my money on them to win the League," said Coach Bianca.

As the defending Western Mass Champs, the Agawam Girls' Track Team and Coach Dan Pryce had high hopes for the 2007 season. They started out strong, winning four meets in a row. That is until they lost to rival Minnechaug, losing by six points, a heartbreaker. Led by Co-Captains Lindsey Pfau and Caitlin Breault, the girls finished their season at 4-1-1. With Pfau out for the better part of the season due to injury, team members Katherine McGeoghan, Becca Montano and Delanie Sapelli really stepped it up. The girls were ranked third overall and ready to roll going into Western Mass.

With some unexpected illnesses that took some of their top competitors out of the race, the girls adapted to some last minute changes. They knew that big points would have to be made up. The girls were up to the challenge. Although they were not able to recapture the title, they did place fourth overall. Lindsey Pfau came in first in pole vault. Four others were able to take second place to help rack up some points (Jillian Van Ness, 100m, Katherine McGeoghan, high jump, Becca Montano, 1 mile, and Delanie Sapelli, javelin). Next year's team looks promising with so many strong returnees.

"Pump Up The Jam"

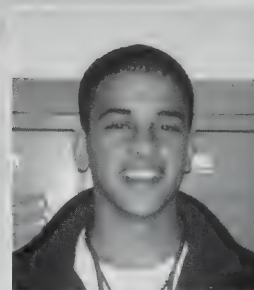

This was a memorable season for the 2007 Agawam Boys' Volleyball Team and Coach Pat Demers. It was something people would call the dream team. With seven players making All-Western Mass, and finishing the season at 21-1, it was a journey that will stay with them forever. These boys cruised through matches, crushing teams usually within the first three sets. They made it through the regular season undefeated, beating Holyoke at the Western Mass Quarter-finals, West Springfield at the Semi-finals and Belchertown at the Finals to become the 2007 Western Mass Champions. "They were good team players, which made them such a successful team," said Coach Pat Demers.

The next game they played was at Hudson High School against Newton North. The match went back and forth with Agawam winning the first and third sets and Newton North winning the second, fourth and unfortunately the fifth and final set, beating out Agawam for a chance at the State Championships. The lack of tournament experience showed, but they played with pure heart. "I felt really bad for the guys," said Coach Pat Demers. Next year, the loss of six All-Western Mass players will take a toll on the team. However, with the return of All-Western Mass player, Andy Schnepf, and David Vilkhovoy, who coach calls her secret weapon, they'll be okay.

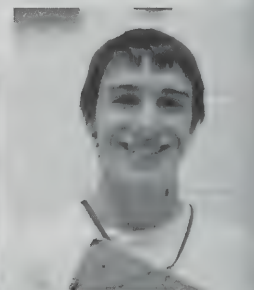

Andrew Schnepf

"My favorite memory of the season was taking home the Western Mass Title."

Fall Sports

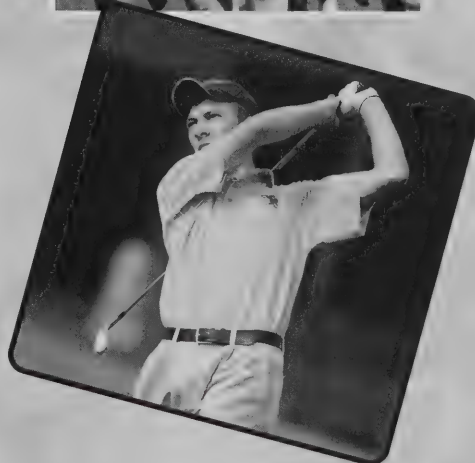

Before school even began, Agawam High was hopping with student athletes as try-outs and practices began. The fall season held the excitement of Soccer, Field Hockey, Girls' Volleyball, Gymnastics, Cross Country, Golf, Cheerleading, and of course, the Friday Night Football games. As the cool weather set in and the Western Mass Tournaments began, the Field Hockey, Gymnastics, Cross Country and Golf teams represented Agawam very proudly. The Football Team defeated West Side for the seventh straight year in the annual Thanksgiving Day Game. Overall the season was a successful one for all of our teams. Although no Western Mass trophies were brought home, Field Hockey made it to the Semi-finals, and Gymnastics, Cross Country and Golf went to the Championships. All of our teams represented Agawam in a very positive way this fall season. In addition, the support from fans was unbelievable, as always.

All of our teams gave an extra effort this season. Many of them advanced to their respective tournaments and made our school proud.

The cheering sections, posters, and general decorations were better than ever to support our Brownies this fall. The extra push helped them all through their tough competitions.

Teamwork is the most important aspect of sports and our AHS teams demonstrate an immense amount of it. Most of the players said their teams were closer than ever this season, which obviously worked in our favor.

"Take Me Out To The Sidelines"

The 2007 Cheerleading Squad had a slow start, but they finally came together as a team in the end. This year, they had a fresh team composed of a large number of underclassmen, but they were ready to learn their roles on the squad. The girls worked very hard in the fall season and kept the Football Team's spirits high to lead them to victory. Every Thursday they stayed after school and decorated the player's lockers for their big Friday night games. The squad also made banners and posters for the boys. The girls cheered non-stop at every home football game, and would do push-ups when the boys scored touchdowns.

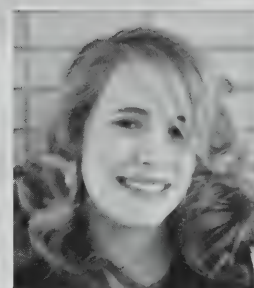

They were a very committed team during the fall season. The squad also put on an outstanding performance during the Pep Rally with an awesome routine. "Pep Rally went well and we are looking forward to competition," said Ashley Fortier. The girls became closer as a team through their experiences and were looking to go all the way in their upcoming competition this winter. Coach Amanda Lemieux planned for a very successful competition and the girls were hoping to finish their season strong.

"When You Win Nothing Hurts"

Determination, hard work, and drive could not begin to express the effort put in this season by the 2007 Boys Cross Country Team. Finishing their season at 4-4, it was one of the better seasons they have had in a while. This year's team was unbelievably close. However, this strengthened their team as everyone supported each other, which led to their success this season. After losing three top runners due to graduation, the remaining boys had a huge gap to fill. They not only filled the gap but truly exceeded people's expectations. With top runners, Senior co-captain Justin Timmons, Sophomores Justin Wright, Kyle Keeley, Dave Olbrych and Chris Copeland the team excelled. These five were backed strongly by their team though, and would not have gone as far without them.

Junior co-captain, Brandon Learned, would have been the team's number two runner, but due to injury he was unable to compete until the end of the season, where he re-injured himself two minutes before his Western Mass race. Luckily for him, and his team, he will be back next season. In the end, these boys proved to themselves and everyone else that no matter what is thrown at them whether it be a nine mile Provin or a simple three miler, they will put one hundred percent of their effort in and make the best of any situation. Although they are losing their number one runner, next season looks promising, and their team will continue to grow and become a single working unit that will be unstoppable.

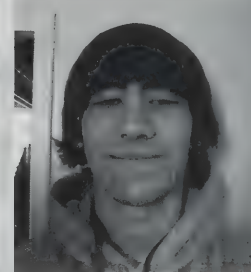

Christopher Copeland

"My favorite memory of the season was when I saw footage of a runner helplessly fall directly before his Western Mass finish, behind me."

Brandon Learned

"Next season looks to be the best season we've had in a few years. Watch out for us. We'll be a top five Western Mass team, and we'll be even better the year after!"

Kyle Keeley

"I don't think a team can have too much chemistry, but we come close."

The gun goes off and the racers start.

The team huddles before their run.

"We Run This Town"

The 2007 Girls' Cross Country Team only had six returnees this year but looking at their record, one would never know. The girls finished their season undefeated with the attitude that "we run this town." Their two top runners of the season were Junior captain Becca Montano and Freshman Jenny Dudek. These two could not have done it alone, as the rest of the team contributed greatly to their undefeated season. Some of their other key runners were Senior captain Jessica Beroth, Junior Allyson Ripke and Sophomore Maxine Dudek. They were able to finish seventh overall in Western Mass which was a huge improvement from last year's fourteenth place finish.

The team's chemistry was one in a million this year, they were like a huge family, which definitely contributed to their outstanding performance. High expectations were held for these girls, the main one was earning a higher place in the Western Mass Tournament than they had last year. They met these expectations and excelled beyond them. With their undefeated season, the girls won the title of League Champs. Over the next couple of years the team hopes to continue with success like that. Jenny Dudek said, "Next season looks very strong and should be a successful season. 2008 Western Mass Champs, here we come!"

Maxine Dudek

"The overall season was outstanding. We ended the season as League Champs, a feat that hadn't been accomplished in many years, and finished 7th overall in Western Mass."

Jess Beroth

"The team was like a close knit family, everyone got along, everyone contributed something to the team, everyone encouraged each other. It was the best team I've ever been on."

Anna Matys

"[My favorite memory of the season was] our last meet when we were League Champs."

Becca races to the finish for another win.

"The Good Old Hockey Game"

The 2007 Field Hockey Team came out strong this season and was prepared to put up a tough fight. Their intense practices and desire to win began after their first game against Turners Falls. The girls swept them 5-0 and were ready to continue their success throughout the season. With the help of Co-Captains Julie Gorman, and Cori Geiger, Megan McNair, and Lauren Brown, they went on an thirteen game winning streak. However, the team struggled when they faced Minnechaug. Earlier in the season, the girls had no problem when they played the Falcons and went home with a 2-0 win, but unfortunately, the second time around was different.

The team played hard, but lost 1-2, breaking their winning streak. Nevertheless, they kept their heads held high, finished the season with an outstanding record of 18-2, and made it to the Semi-Finals, where they faced Mohawk Regional. The team fought until the end, but unfortunately lost 2-3. Overall, the girls were happy with their season because they became close as a team and always worked together. "This is the closest team I have ever been on," said Junior Cori Geiger. They were all satisfied with each other's efforts and are prepared to win next year's Western Mass Title.

Julie Gorman

"We were like a peanut butter and jelly sandwich. Enough said."

Brie Newton

"Next season looks extremely successful. Although we are losing Gorman and Scheb's, everyone else will be back and better than ever. Western Mass Champs '08 will be Agawam."

Lauren Brown

"Across The Field"

The 2007 Boys' Football Team worked hard to prove their talents because of last season's unfortunate struggle. The boys rebounded quickly after a tough home opener against Cathedral. Nevertheless they brought all their skills to the field when they demolished Commerce in their second game. The team left with a 35-6 win and were ready for their next victim, Chicopee Comp. This time, the boys were ready to show their fans what they were made of, and with the home field advantage, the boys battled for the 34-8 win. Senior Quarterback Brendan McNeish was a very valuable player. Senior Wide Receiver Blake Dutilly had a knack for catching the ball to score for his team, along with Sophomore Andrew Cayer.

Senior Offensive Tackle Patrick McKeever blocked for his teammates making it easy for Senior Anthony Jimenez to run through the madness of his opponents. Senior Matt MacFadzen was a key contributor to the team's successful record of 7-4. Then, on Thanksgiving Day, the team brought all of their talents together to swamp West Side. It was a battle for victory and each play was crucial, but the boys fought until the end and completed their season with a 34-27 win. "The Brownies' brotherhood stuck tight through a roller coaster season. Our mentality was never quiet and it prevailed in many big conference games," said Senior Patrick McKeever.

Matt MacFadzen

"My favorite memory of the team was when we banded together like brothers on the battlefield to overcome the common enemy."

Pat McKeever

"There are no other brothers as tight as the Brownies. Everyone gave their all for each other every play. This bond goes farther than the field."

Brendan McNeish

"My favorite memory of the season was our victory over Central. It was a close game, and we came out victorious."

"Putting For The Winning Score"

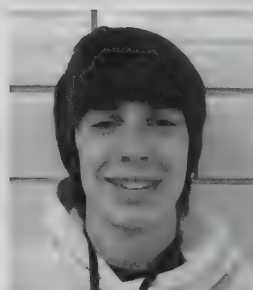

The 2007 Golf Team ended the season very strong with a second place finish at Western Mass and a fifth place finish at States. The team consisted of two seniors, three juniors, two sophomores and three freshmen. Being fairly young, they performed excellent against their opponents. They won seven straight matches toward the end of the season. Juniors Josh Doherty and Victor DeCaro, Sophomore Connor Wytrych, and Freshmen Kevin Wheeler and Anthony Vecchiarelli were the team's top five golfers of the season. Jeff LaZazzera, a junior who won first place in the Western Mass Tournament individually, proved to be the best golfer in Western Mass. Overall, the team chemistry was great this year.

"Even before the season, we were all good friends and had played golf all summer together. With everyone's average score for the season within .1 or .2 of each other, it is safe to say that we had no star player. This was good for us because it gave everybody a chance at making headlines and everyone did," said Jeff LaZazzera. Next season looks excellent for the team as well. They are only losing two seniors and Anthony Vecchiarelli and Kevin Wheeler will be a huge help in the next couple of years. The team is hoping to bring home both the Western Mass and State Titles next year!

Victor has amazing form as he swings through perfectly.

Jeff watches his ball after an incredible swing.

Anthony Vecchiarelli
"Next season looks great. We have six out of our eight starters next year."

Victor DeCaro
"Everyone got along really good throughout the season. We stuck together through the good and bad."

Jeff LaZazzera
"The Western Mass & State Tournaments were an amazing experience. To compete with the best golfers in the state is truly a great experience. What more could you ask for than to play golf everyday with your friends?"

"Bend Me, Shape Me"

The 2007 Gymnastics Team performed well this season and their regular season 13-0 record proved their success. Key gymnasts on the team included Seniors Meg Little, Steve Lucia, Jenn Turner and Junior Britt Laflamme. Meg and Steve competed in every event, and always scored high for their team. They worked extremely hard at practice to prepare for their season, but faced three intense meets against Westfield. "The meets were extremely nerve-racking," said Senior Meg Little. The team didn't know what to expect because they had very talented new members on the Westfield team. The third meet against them was the hardest, but they came out on top at all three meets.

After their incredible season record, the team intended to place first in the Western Mass tournament, but unfortunately placed second. "It was pretty upsetting and surprising that we didn't win, but it was very close. The whole team performed outstandingly," said Little. Steve Lucia placed first individually and won every event. As a whole, the team was extremely satisfied with their efforts. Turner said, "Everyone who competed, played awesome." The team had tough competition, but overall had an amazing season together. With returning gymnasts Brittany Laflamme and Meg Dupre, the team has potential to win it all next year.

"Kick It"

For the Agawam Boys' Soccer Team, the last few seasons have not been the greatest. However, the 2007 team changed that this year. When the boys came back this fall, they not only had to adjust to a new team but a new coach as well. Coach Tom Smith, a teacher at Agawam, came into this season with high expectations for these boys, "I really wanted to change people's perception. I wanted to prove to everyone that we were better than they thought. I also wanted to finish ranked higher overall than they were last year". In addition to changing people's perceptions about the teams talents, Coach Smith also wanted the boys to become more disciplined.

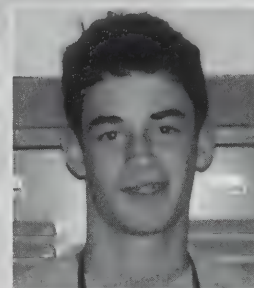

To start the season, they first faced Central and were able to defeat them 7-2. Then, two games later they defeated Longmeadow 3-2, racking up more wins in their first three games than they had all season last year. Coach Smith brought something new to the team. With the help of their two strong captains, Juniors Andy Schnepf and Andy Mattarazzo who were also named All-League players, the team stuck together and had great chemistry throughout the entire season. Some injuries to key players, Senior Derek D'Amours, Junior Andy Schnepf, and Freshman Richie Porfilio, affected their chances of making the tournament, and they finished the season at 4-12-2 and fourth in the league. The boys have come a long way and next season looks excellent with ten starters returning.

"When You Put Your Heart In It"

As the 2007 Agawam Girls' Soccer Team, began their season, the outlook was excellent. Little did they know it would not turn out as they expected. Starting off with a 2-0 record, they were ecstatic. With only one returning defender, Senior Co-Captain, Danielle Stelma, had a lot of work to do with the young defense. The other Senior Co-Captains, Kayla Manzi and Nicole Lownds, had their hands full with a new offense as well. The three captains, with the help from their fellow seniors, Erica Graves, Lindsay Jacks, Jessica Saimeri, and Jamie Litchfield, were able to pull their team together into a family. Another huge asset was Junior Taylor Hartmann, who was the top scorer, and later named an All-State player. The chemistry between the girls was one that no other team has had.

Unfortunately, the ball just did not bounce in their favor. Despite some tough losses against Cathedral and Ludlow, these girls never gave up. Their heads were still held high, while they took one game at a time. Even when there was no way the points would work out in their favor to qualify for the tournament, they fought strong for every ball in each of their remaining games. Although this was the first time in several years that we were unable to make it to the tournament, the season was not a loss. If you sat on the bench at practice and saw the friendships develop and laughs these girls had together, there is no way anyone could have said the season was a loss. "The girls never gave up, and showed up to every game to play. I respect them completely for that," said Coach Wray-Ramos.

"Bump, Set, Spike, Score"

The Agawam Girls' Volleyball Team played to their potential in the 2007 season, but suffered a few unexpected losses. The team consisted of quite a few upperclassmen, and in the beginning of the season they were expected to win it all. The girls came out with fire in their first match and took no mercy when they swept Sci-Tech, 3-0. They continued their success and brought their energy to the court in the following two matches. The girls went home with winning titles, making a mark on the season. Senior Captain Emily Laliberte contributed to the team's success with her strong outside and middle hitting. Emily and outside hitter Senior Katey Figella caused tremendous damage to their opponents. On the defensive end, Seniors Stacy Croteau and Noelle Myers excelled with their incredible blocks. Senior Andrea Walsh also added to their defensive success with her amazing passes that always got up to the setter, Junior Regina Sibilia. Sibilia had many great assists and her sets were very consistent. Overall, the girls season did not go as planned, but they finished on Senior Night with a 3-0 win versus Ludlow. "Although our record was disappointing, we wrapped the season up nicely with a great Senior Night," said Senior hitter Jessica Peck.

Winter Sports

As the weather gets colder, the sports teams at Agawam High move indoors for their winter seasons. Students endure the cold winter nights to cheer on their peers by attending basketball and hockey games, as well as wrestling, swimming, track and skiing meets. The amount of students in the stands was something no other school had, and really got the teams going.

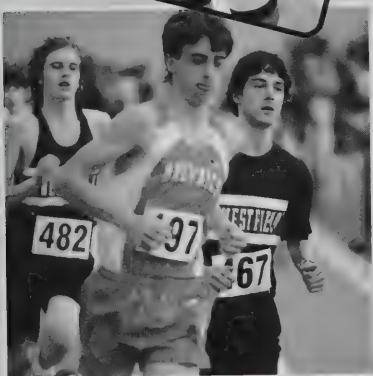

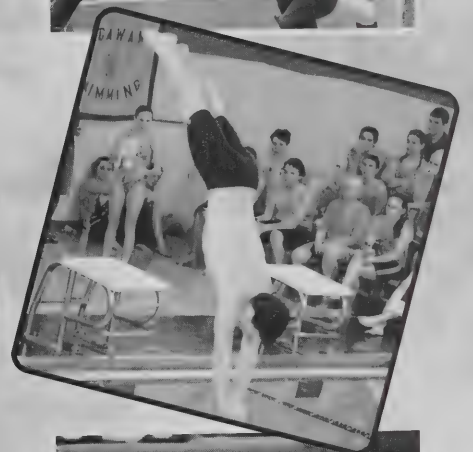

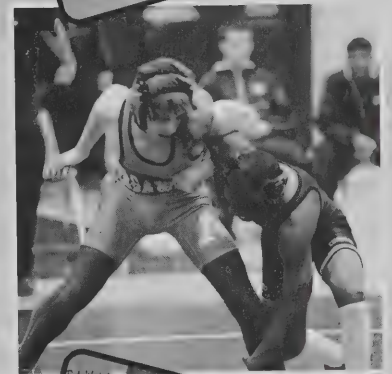

Behind the scenes, a lot of hard work was put in by these athletes with hours of practices. If someone was to walk into the high school at about two thirty, while most students were already home for the day, one would still find the indoor track team running through the halls, the basketball teams practicing hard, and the wrestling team in the middle gymnasium. If one traveled to the pool at the junior high school, one would find the swim team doing laps. Up at Blandford Mountain, he or she would find the ski team speeding down the slopes. At the Olympia Skating rink, he or she would find the hockey team charging the ice.

Although all the sports have their own practices, games, or meets, the teams focus on one goal, a Western Mass Championship. The winter season is the perfect time for people to get out of the house and entertain themselves by watching high school students play a sport they love.

The outstanding qualities that all the teams possessed were hard work and motivation. They practiced longer and harder than ever before, producing some great results in the end.

Unfortunately, some of the winter sports had to travel farther for their games and meets. Despite the journey, the fan support did not waver in the slightest.

These AHS athletes gave it their all and that was more than enough. Countless games were won and lasting friendships were formed. One could not have asked for a better outcome.

"We're Playing Basketball"

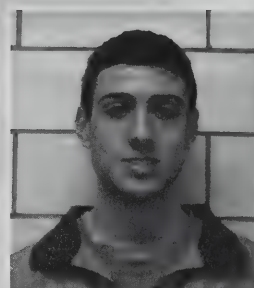

The Boys' Basketball Team had a very successful season, and showed improvement over last season's record. This year's team was led by Senior Captains Al Ferrentino and Derek D'Amours, both of whom contributed to the team's success. Ferrentino started at the point guard position and was a strong force on the court. Derek led the team with his outside shooting, especially his three pointers. The team suffered when Derek was out with an injury for part of the season, but other players stepped up to make up for his loss. These other contributors included Senior Forwards Andrew Dean, and Bryant D'Amours. Dean was strong under the boards while Bryant took the ball to the basket with fire. Juniors Matt Graham and Andy Schnepf were also critical defensive threats during the games. Together the boys created great chemistry on the court, whether it was warming up before the games to their very energetic music or socializing after practices. Their bond helped them out at the beginning of the season when they came out strong against their first three opponents, and won three in a row. However, the team struggled with their 40-50 loss against Holyoke, but quickly got back on track when they faced St. Mary's and swamped the team 74-41. The boys had a terrific season which shows that the hard work and energy of Coach Dave Federico paid off.

Derek D'Amours

"This season looks good so far. We're 5-5 right now and we haven't played to our full potential yet."

Bryant D'Amours

"The team chemistry is great. Everyone on the team gets along like we have been playing together our whole lives."

Al Ferrentino

"Get'cha Head In The Game"

The Girls' Basketball Team prepared to take on a new season and a new coach, Harold Cote. Some players were upset about the loss of former Coach Bronwyn Monahan, but were eager for the experience of new leadership. Coach Cote's knowledge of the game and past experiences with his alumni daughters, allowed him to push the girls to the end. The team was led by Senior Captains, Julie Gorman and Christina Korney. They kicked off the season with a 43-40 win against Westfield. Gorman was a major offensive and defensive component, while Korney led the team with her excellent outside shooting.

The girls struggled to succeed when Junior Guard Delanie Sapelli was out for a few weeks with an injury, along with Sophomore Forward Kyleigh Oliveira due to a serious knee injury. However, in their absence other players stepped up to fill the void. Leading Rebounder Mackenzie Doyle had a successful year as their starting center. Her power under the boards allowed for many offensive opportunities and a chance to succeed. Overall, the girls had an excellent season, and are looking to continue their progress into the next year.

Delanie Sapelli

"The season didn't start as we had hoped. We are picking it up and are still on the hunt for a tournament spot."

Mackenzie Doyle

"The main goal for the entire team this season is to make the tournament, and I think it is very plausible that we will."

"It's Hockey Night Tonight"

This winter's Hockey Team was extremely successful this season because of their overall chemistry and individual talents. After acquiring five new freshmen faces, they really started off right with a team unity event that included a ropes course and even scuba diving. In addition, they also had a pasta party together the night before every big game to talk strategy and simply socialize. Senior Captain Sean Walsh also contributed to the goal of team chemistry and helped the team on the ice with his incredible defense in front of the goal. Junior Co-Captain Bob Johnson was also an asset during the games. Freshman Kevin Wheeler and Junior Mason Richards were huge offensive threats and key scorers this season. The boys opened their season against Belchertown and it was a tough fight. They finished the game with a tie; the final score was 1-1. The tie against Belchertown got them fired up to play their next game. The boys played hard and swamped St. Mary's 4-0; they were unstoppable. As the season progressed, the team continued to work hard and win big. The Hockey Team played to their potential and the season was a huge success. Most of all, though, they had fun doing it. Hopefully, in the next few years the team will continue to do well, despite the loss of their six outstanding senior starters. Still, there are some very promising players returning and the overall talent is pretty much spread out among the various age groups. With a bit of luck thrown in, the team will be able to guarantee victory in the future.

"All It Takes Is All You Got"

After last year's rebuilding season, the 2007-2008 Boys' Indoor Track Team looked to have a winning year and many qualifiers. Led by Senior Captains Phil Scoville and Nick Midura, the team was ready and raring to go. The boys had an excellent turn out this season, with not only newcomers but many returnees. At the beginning of the season, Seniors Blake Dutilly, Phil Scoville, Nick Midura and Junior Brandon Learned were on dry dock due to injuries, and were all benched for their first meet. There, the team faced West Springfield where the boys put up a fight, but were not able to grab the win and were defeated 54-40. However, they continued to work hard in hopes of winning their next meet.

The second meet against Northampton unfortunately ended similarly to the first with a loss of 70.5-24.5. It was not all bad; three boys qualified for Western Mass, including Senior Nick Midura in his first meet of the season. Although the first weeks did not go as they had hoped, the Brownies were not done fighting. Day after day, the boys trained harder, putting in that extra effort and going the extra mile to improve themselves and make the team better in the hopes of turning their season around. This year's Boys' Indoor Track Team proved that dedication and hard work can take a team a long way.

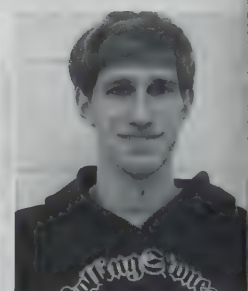

Nick Midura

"The team is really pulling together. Every practice we have a lot of fun while working hard. I'm proud to say I'm their captain."

Dalton Ashwell

"The team looks really strong this year. A lot of underclassmen came out this season, which helped build our numbers."

Justin Timmons

"This season we have a lot of loyal consistent runners. We are all high spirited too, which adds to our success."

The 2007-2008 Girls' Track Team looked very strong at the beginning of the season. After losing Western Mass last year by one point to their rivals Minnechaug, they were out for revenge this year. The turn out of newcomers this season was one of the largest in years. The captains, seniors Lindsay Jacks, Danielle Stelma and Junior Becca Montano, had their hands full, but handled themselves and their team perfectly. They wanted to show the underclassmen that it would take a lot of dedication and many hours of hard work in order to win the Western Mass Title. The first meet came upon the girls quickly and the Brownies triumphed over the Terriers 69-26. This was a huge feat for the team with all three captains and two other major point scorers out due to injuries. Also, twelve girls qualified for Western Mass, and five for States. The following week, Agawam was able to defeat Northampton 53-42, with eight more girls qualifying for Western Mass, and five more for States.

The girls finished out their season strong in hunt of another Western Mass Title. All their hard work and dedication paid off with many girls qualifying for both the Western Mass and State Tournaments. Besides many girls qualifying, the team was successful in many other ways; for one, they came together as a family. Next year, the girls should continue to be successful in everything they do.

Meg Breault

"I consider this team a family, I would trust them with my life and I know they want a Western Mass title just as bad as I do."

Brittany Struck

"This season is going great so far. We are undefeated with some huge meets ahead of us. Finishing the rest of the season out strong is very promising."

Jen Kapinos

"Our goal as a team is to qualify as many people as we can for Western Mass. Our ultimate goal is to win the Western Mass Tournament, and return home champions."

"Down the Mountain Side"

The Boys' Ski Team had a great season on the slopes. The team was led by Junior Captains Tim Olson and Andrew DeChristopher. "There has been a lot of improvement since last year," said Olson. The boys' practices are about two to three hours twice a week. These practices were long and grueling and the boys did not get home until late at night. The team had no newcomers this season which allowed for success due to their experience on the mountain. Another factor was their amazing team chemistry. The boys were together in the previous season, they already were familiar and comfortable with each other which lead to winning and also having a good time. Except, the boys were not just about unity, they each also focused on individually reaching their own personal records. However, even in that, the group completely supported each other and were thrilled and proud to see a fellow skier succeed. Olson and DeChristopher competed in both giant slalom and slalom. Though both boys were better at regular slalom. DeChristopher had improved very much, placing in the top thirty at the team's first meet. Olson continued his personal success from last year when he placed in the top ten at the first meet. The boys competed with fire and energy and had a great season. Fortunately, all the members will be returning again next year for their third season together and they all hope to do even better.

Tim Olson

"Our chemistry this year is fantastic. Everyone gets along, which leads to some great times on the mountain."

Andrew DeChristopher

"Our goal for this season is for everyone to finish off the season very strong. Also to improve their personal times."

Alexander Jones

"We are awesome this year. Everyone is giving it their all to improve themselves and we should finish off the season strong."

"On the Ice Snow"

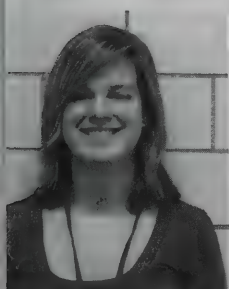

The Girls' Ski Team was victorious in their efforts this season. They all competed to their potential and worked hard to succeed. It was a struggle at first because the girls lost their top two skiers from last season. Molly Joel and Cait Hurley were huge assets to the team, but when they graduated, the rest of the girls had to step up individually. The team had a few new additions who were introduced to competitive skiing for the first time, but had excellent guidance with Seniors Amanda Ledwith and Sarah Reutt as captains. Both were successful on the mountain along with sophomore Steph Scherpa. She placed in the top ten twice at the beginning of the season.

The team as a whole started off very strongly, they were ranked second and they were determined to advance. To prepare for their meets, the girls set up their own courses during practices. These drills pushed them to the limit and improved their abilities. "No day is an easy day," said Ledwith. Although it was challenging, the girls came together as a team and competed to their highest potential. They all became close even outside of practices and meets. Though talents and wins are good, the parts that they will never forget are the memories they made and the friendships they formed. After all, a good season is an enjoyable one and this one was definitely fantastic in all the aspects that a season should be.

"When Life Gets You Down, Just Keep Swimming"

Over the past few years the Boys' Swim Team has not had the best turn out. However, this season was a lot different with fourteen talented boys on the roster. This group was ready for a fun-filled season, with many goals in mind. One was to finish their season better than they had in the past. They started off with a thrilling meet against rival Chicopee Comp and came out on top winning 93-90. Even with this win, Senior Captain Steve Lucia knew that the team still had a lot of work to do. Unfortunately, they lost their next meet 50-53 to another rival, South Hadley, but were able to bounce back quickly to defeat Cathedral 105-65, and then Sci-Teach 106-75.

With three wins under their belt the boys were beginning to feel confident with their abilities and were swimming to their overall goal. The team's standout swimmers this year were Senior Captain Steve Lucia, Junior Zach Benoit, and Freshman Zach Niziolek. But there was a lot of other talents as well, one including Brendan Baker, the big surprise contributor this season. He became an all-around swimmer as a freshman, and helped the team to clinch many first and second places. The boys had a successful season and hope to continue with their success in the future.

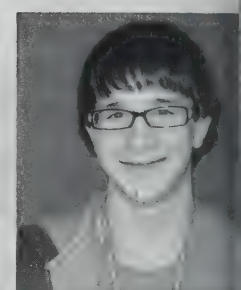

Dalton Boglish

"The team is trying very hard to win our division. So far we are in second place, which is a huge accomplishment."

Zach Benoit

"The team is looking extremely strong and we have an excellent chance of winning the league this year."

Zach Niziolek

"Dive Into You"

The 2007-2008 Girls' Swim Team is in tip-top shape coming into this season. Led by Senior Captain Krystina Albano, the girls were focused from day one. The team had very successful seasons in the past and proved so again this year. They set a goal for the team as a whole and for themselves individually. They were to take first in the division, and individually improve their times to reach their personal bests. The first meet came quickly against Chicopee Comp where they were able to defeat them 103-81. South Hadley was their next competition and they unfortunately could not pull out a win. However, the girls bounced back and defeated Cathedral, and then Sci-Tech. There was still a lot of work that needed to be done and with their next meet against arch rival, Easthampton, they were ready to go. In this thrilling meet the adrenaline rush was felt even in the stands. The Brownies came out on top 98-85. The girls continued to work hard and dominate their competition.

This is the first time in a couple of seasons that there have been no standout swimmers, each girl had a certain event that she excelled in. Most seasons the upperclassmen pull the team together and are the major point scorers, but things were a little different this year for the girls. The freshmen class was a huge surprise to the team, and with a lot of talent they helped tremendously and will only continue to improve in the years to come.

"I'll Be A Wrestler"

If someone were to bring up the Agawam Wrestling Team, most would think of how successful they have been. This year was no different. Although they lost many athletes due to graduation, the 2007-2008 Wrestling Team was very well off. One was able to find them in the hot, sweaty middle gym everyday after school from three to six, sometimes even seven at night. Captains Matt MacFadzen, Anthony Stork, and Jake Ferreira brought the team together like good captains should. Also, a lot of the credit goes to the coaches for pushing these boys to be the best that they can. The top wrestlers of the season were the captains, as well as Senior Anthony Jimenez.

Besides these four, there have been other contributors including Joe Blais (first place in the Milford Tournament) and James Cunningham (first place in the King Phillip Tournament). These boys practiced for three to four hours a day, having to watch what they ate, and always worrying about making weight. They only had one goal in sight: to win the Western Mass Championship. Some people think they are crazy for doing everything they do, but for them it is a way of life. It is something they love to do. Next season the boys should continue to be successful, but they will have to work extra hard to fill the shoes of the four seniors who will be graduating.

Anthony Stork

"Our team has great chemistry. Bus rides home always equal laughs."

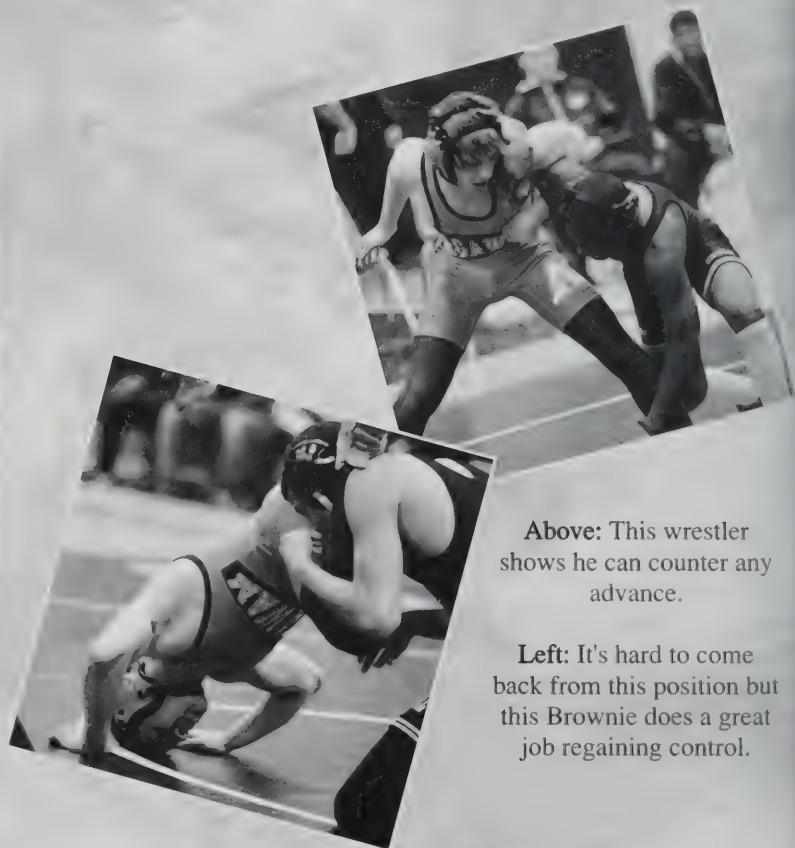

Anthony Jimenez

"All we have to do is practice hard and win, win, win! Hit it or quit it!"

Performing Arts

Agawam High School is not just about academics, sports and clubs. The performing arts are also a major part of our high school experience. With many students participating in one or more of the eleven different performing arts, wonderful activities and performances are enjoyed by many. These arts range anywhere from performing on the stage, singing with beautiful voices, acting out amazing plays, or even presenting stunning music. Students paint and draw masterpieces that are showcased in the Winter Arts Festival and perform at Friday Night football games during the spectacular halftime shows. These talented individuals put extra effort into entertaining and amazing the rest of their classmates as well as faculty, parents, and members of the community. All of these students work extremely hard at what they do and it shows.

The performing arts are a very important and popular part of the school. From the Winter Arts Festival to Agawam Spotlight, talented students show off what they can do.

The Play Production Class provides students with top-rate entertainment along with the various vocal groups and the student bands.

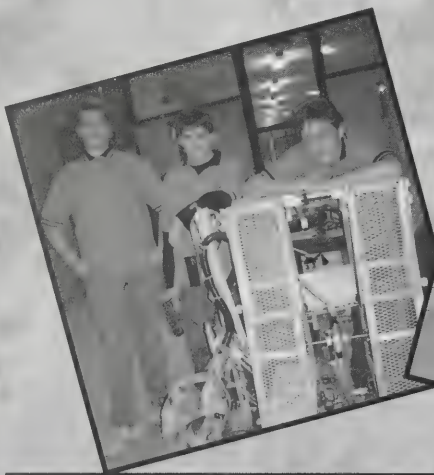

The turnout at Agawam Spotlight this year was the best yet. The acts showcased the unique talents of our very gifted AHS students.

Winter Arts Festival

"Nothin' But A Good Time"

If one attended the Winter Arts Festival, one would have found a variety of artistic and musical talents in the students of Agawam High. Attendees first walked the long hallway off of the rotunda to view the countless pieces of artwork by the Art Honors I and II classes. Various art forms included pottery, acrylic paintings, pencil sketches, watercolor, and print making. They also organized a raffle table to raise money for art scholarships. The Performing Arts part of the night took place in the auditorium, which was filled to the brim with parents, students, and members of the community. The Chorale, Honors Chorus, and Jazz Fusion, led by Ms. Funk, all sang beautifully. Choreography also made an appearance during the Chorale and Honors Chorus' performance of "O Sifuni Mungu." Next, the Jazz Band and Concert Band played under the direction of Mr. Hueglin.

We owe the success of this spectacular night to the hard work, time, and effort put in by the numerous art and music students. Also, the four teachers that organized this event deserve special thanks: Mrs. Florek, Ms. Waters, Ms. Funk, and Mr. Hueglin. The Winter Arts Festival was an enjoyable night full of great art and music.

Honors Chorus

"I'm Gonna Keep On Singing My Song"

A very important aspect of the Performing Arts department at AHS is the Honors Chorus, which has an outstanding reputation for expressing themselves brilliantly through the songs they sing. Under the direction of Ms. Sonja Funk, Honors Chorus is a group of very talented voices who are proud to share their passion of music with the school and the community. They kicked off their performances this year with an amazing six-part version of "The Star-Spangled Banner" at the Pep Rally. December was a very busy month for the Chorus, as they performed Christmas carols for the Agawam Rotary Club, the school council, and for the students at Phelps Elementary School. The Winter Arts Festival was another chance for them to showcase their talent, which they did very well. During January, they took a field trip to the Junior High School to rehearse for a combined concert with the eighth grade chorus, which proved to be a very pleasant experience for all who attended. Like every other year, the Chorus teamed up with Play Production to perform the musical, "Once Upon a Mattress." This play came together and was exceptional because of all the extra effort put in. On top of their amazing performances the group also conducted various fundraisers, such as an ice cream social, a raffle, and a bake sale. The hard work and dedication this group puts in every year is admirable. Finally, the Chorus winded down the end of their performing year by singing in the Spring Arts Festival in May. Words cannot describe how hard this particular group worked just to become better performers and singers this year. They should definitely be proud of all they accomplished.

Chorale

"Somehow We're Heard When Our Hearts Sing"

After practicing every day for the whole year, the singing ability of the Agawam High School Chorale had really come together in an amazing way. The Chorale consisted of mostly new freshmen and sophomores, but still managed to impress their teacher, Ms. Sonja Funk. Together, they made an incredible group of female voices. They performed "Fields of Gold," "Can't Stop Lovin' Dat Man," and a few other songs for the Winter Arts Festival in December, and for other audiences as well. On several different occasions, they joined the Honors Chorus on field trips to Phelps School, as well as the Junior High School, and to sing Christmas Carols through the hallways of AHS before winter break. Wherever they performed, they always managed to blend their voices in beautifully with the Honors Chorus group. During the Spring months, they spent their class time working on new songs, which they went on to perform at the All-Women's Choir Festival in May, held in New London, CT this year. This field trip was very enjoyable for the Chorale and they gained a lot of experience as singers, too. The girls were also a part of the Spring Arts Festival in May. The talented singers performed during the graduation ceremony along with the Honors Chorus. Throughout the year, they performed a variety of songs beautifully and really challenged themselves to be the best they could be. As the year progressed, it was easy to see the transformation of the group as they perfected their sound. These girls were always very dedicated to their music, and never hesitated to show off what they could do.

Jazz Fusion

"That's What I'm Here to Do, To Sing for You"

If you love to sing, but could not fit Chorus into your schedule, this would be a great after-school activity to join. Making its debut this year, courtesy of Ms. Sonja Funk, Jazz Fusion is a choral group consisting of dedicated female singers. Meeting on Wednesdays after school, these ladies practiced incessantly to make their sound flawless for their upcoming concerts and shows.

They made their talent known at the Winter Arts Festival after performing an outstanding rendition of "Brown Earth," by Laura Nyro. Although this was their only piece in the concert, they certainly wowed the audience with their rendition. After this, their after-school meetings consisted of preparing for the Women's Choir Festival in May, in which they joined forces with the Chorale. They also participated in the Spring Arts Festival, with another brief appearance that was also nothing short of astounding. Their chemistry was also a major asset. The small group formed close friendships. They all enjoyed performing together, no matter what the audience or musical selection, because singing is their passion. Though it is a small group of young women, they are sure to grow more talented, performing for many more audiences in the future. They are only at the beginning of many successes to come.

Choreography

"I Hope You Dance"

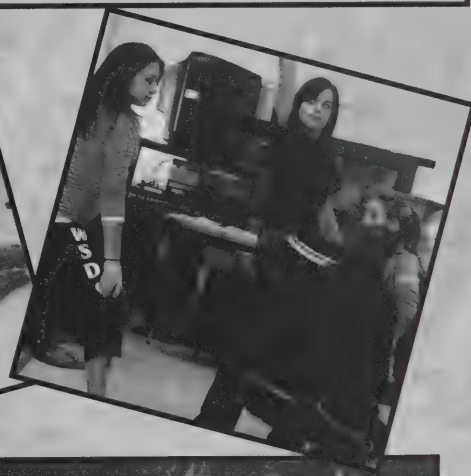

After practicing their dance routines every day, creating new moves, and trying to make their dances original and unique, these girls were exhausted. However, their hard work paid off when they heard the wholehearted round of applause from their audience. Supervised by Ms. Sonja Funk, the dances would not be nearly as incredible as they turned out to be, if they were not performed by this passionate group of dancers. At Agawam Spotlight this year, the Choreography classes performed the dance "Africa," which was their debut performance of the year, and an amazing one, too. They left a lasting impression on the students who attended the show, hearing nothing but good reviews about their performance. After this, they went on to showcase their talent at the Winter Arts Festival, accompanying the Honors Chorus and Chorale, with their routine to "O Sifuni Mungu." The dancers spread out through the aisles of the auditorium, moving with the rhythm of the drums in the song. Once they finished portraying the African culture, the dancers began to create exceptional routines to different songs, which they performed at their recital in April in the Agawam High School auditorium. Also held in April was the musical, "Once Upon a Mattress," which Ms. Funk's intern, Kasondra Kalaitzidis, helped choreograph parts of. These two classes worked very hard, and by really getting into the music, this group proved to have great passion and enthusiasm for what they do. They performed for various audiences throughout the year, and showed everyone their love for dance, and how capable they were in becoming fantastic performers.

Concert Band

"Greensleeves Was My Heart of Gold"

Throughout the year, this group of people works hard for one common purpose; to come together in musical harmony. These students make up the Agawam High School Concert Band. Once the Marching Band season ends in November, the Concert Band begins to practice and perform. The band, consisting of the honors and regular band classes, combine their talents to make up the Concert Band. These students do not just practice in class, they also practice from six to eight on Tuesday nights. With their new director Mr. William Hueglin, who joined them from Virginia, there is a breathe of fresh air in the music this year. The band works very hard during the year, especially to perform at the annual Winter Arts Festival, including musical selections such as "Greensleeves," "First Suite in E Flat," by Gustav Holst and "March of the Belgian Paratroopers." This year, the concert band also provided music for the inauguration of Agawam's new mayor, Mrs. Susan Dawson, in January. Members from the Concert Band can also be a part of the Pit Crew for Agawam High's theatrical performances. They make each play even more entertaining with live music. In April, the band traveled on a Spring Trip to Virginia Beach, where everyone had a great time. Performing alongside the middle and junior high schools at their Bandtime performance is a highlight of the year. All four bands play the "Star Spangled Banner" together; a musical performance that is worth the wait. Meg Little and Sam Einzig were just some of the students who were talented enough to make the Western Districts. The Band is a beloved part of our high school experience, and each student involved has a great time.

Marching Band

"Detail, How are your eyes? With Pride!"

From Friday night lights to Saturday morning competitions, the Agawam High School Marching Mohawks worked hard for perfection. After the last school year, the band director of two years, Ms. Lauren Kapalka left and the Mohawks were dismayed. Under the new direction of Music teacher and Band Director Mr. Bill Hueglin, the Mohawks worked their way to the best marching band season they had ever had. The band led by Drum Majors Christine Davignon and Antonia Moore and the Color Guard, led by their Senior Captains Chris Cosenzi and Sahar Kafi, put on the show of their lives at every performance. "Pirates of the Caribbean," the field show, was perfected every Tuesday and Thursday night for the whole season, meticulously checking drill spots and roll stepping. Despite rain, sleet or snow, the band practiced outside on the practice field and in the stadium. The band bus rides to U.S.S.B.A. competitions in Connecticut and jokes like "This one time at band camp..." all have special places in these students hearts, and brought them closer and closer to form a second family. Their first competition in Putnam was a great way to start the season with a high score of 65.65, and then their score improved 5-6 points every competition. The newest members, the 2011 freshmen, were a great addition to the band. "In all of the years that I have done marching band, I have never had such a great year," said Sahar. Not only did the band entertain on the field, they also energetically participated in parades during the fall, spring, and throughout the year. No matter what the field show, for years to come the marching band will be nothing short of mind-blowing entertainment.

Jazz Band

"When She Walks, She's Like A Samba"

For the Jazz Band of the Agawam High School, there is nothing like playing their instruments second period every day of the week. The Jazz Band is an Honors course that is for the more experienced members of the band. This small group of students, most of them members of the Marching Band and the Concert Band, are all talented and dedicated musicians. They try really hard to make their music the best it can be. With Mr. William Hueglin as their new director, he got to see a different side of the band in his jazz students. Each musician was required to audition for admittance into this ensemble. Many members that are a part of the jazz band say that it is their favorite period of the day. They each look forward to practicing and performing with each other. With such a small group of students, they all form really close friendships and play well together. Performing at events like the Winter Arts Festival and the Spring Concert are a big part of the year for them. They practice very hard to perform their best. The pieces that they performed at the Winter Arts Festival, such as "Leap Frog," "Girl from Impanema," "25 or 6 to 4," "Little Brown Jug," and "Jingle Bells," were played beautifully and demonstrated perfect harmony. These students are not only spectacular instrumentalists but also great fundraisers. Each year, one of the events is the Jazz Café at Barnes & Noble, which they organize, and is always a huge hit. From trumpets to guitars, the AHS Jazz Band knows how to make their music sound amazing.

Play Production

"Give My Regards To Broadway"

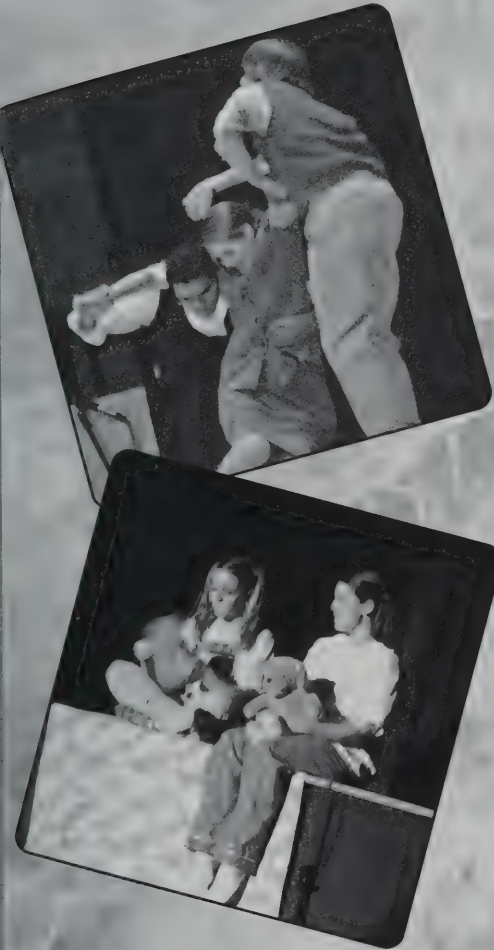

In the Play Production class taught by Mrs. Pamela Vallon-Jackson, students get the opportunity to learn all about the art of performing on stage. In class, the group of aspiring actors read through plays and chose ones that they wished to perform throughout the year. Usually, an annual Halloween play is performed along with a Valentine's Day assembly and the Spring Musical. This year's Halloween performance was a comedy based off of the popular board game "Clue," called "The Murderous Mansion of Mr. Uno," which drew in a pretty good crowd. Also, before the winter break, the group put together a few Christmas skits. These included a skit about a Christmas in a country store, a more dramatic one about a girl who has not seen her father in years, one about the chaos of department stores around the holidays and a musical ID skit performed to the tune of "The Twelve Days of Christmas." Previous Valentine's plays include the comedies "Check Please," "Check Please Two," and "Bobby Wilson Can Eat His Own Face." Last year's musical, "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown," was also a learning experience for those who participated. This class is a great opportunity for students hoping for a career in acting, or for those that just love being on stage and performing. However, not only does the class work on acting skills, but they also learn about lighting, sound and being part of the stage crew. They experienced the auditioning process as well as the task of memorizing lines and learning blocking. Many students enjoy this class so much that they enroll in it more than once, sometimes even all four years of their high school career. However, whether they take it one year or all four, no student ever regrets taking this performing arts class.

Halloween Play

"The Murderous Mansion of Mr. Uno"

It was the end of October and the excitement of Halloween was in the air; it was the perfect time for a murder mystery play. Once again, Mrs. Vallon-Jackson and her Play Production class put together their annual Halloween performance, which was "The Murderous Mansion of Mr. Uno." Soon after the start of the new school year, the cast was chosen and rehearsals began right away. The actors began memorizing their lines and building up their characters. All class time was put towards producing the play as well as the set. In the plot of the play, a group of six guests were invited to a mansion owned by the mysterious man, Mr. Uno. This included General Spragmorton, an extreme military man, Ms. Bilkem, a workaholic lawyer, Professor Beasley, a nerdy know-it-all, Madam Isis, the owner of a brothel, Mrs. Tarragon, the pill-addicted wife of a senator, and the beautiful and seductive Miss Daphne. Here, they were introduced to the butler, Mortimier, the French maid, Charlotte, and the flirtatious cook, George, who were all also clueless as to what Mr. Uno was planning. Soon after arriving, the guests were informed that they were being blackmailed. They all received an envelope containing incriminating photos of them along with a task that they must complete in order to leave the mansion. However, shortly after Mr. Uno left the guests, he was found dead. The new task was to then identify the killer. Three alternate endings were performed, with the killers being Mrs. Tarragon, Mrs. Uno, and one in which all of the guests had some part in the murder. Overall, the play went smoothly and was enjoyed by all.

Far Left: Ms. Bilkem, played by Jen Hensel, starts to look a little nervous when Shaunna's character, Mrs. Tarragon, begins to go crazy after misplacing her pills.

Left: Each guest receives an envelope revealing incriminating photographs and a task they must complete to be set free from the mansion.

Bottom Left: The rest of the guests get slightly antsy as Madam Isis, played by Alyssa Doyle, carelessly handles the murder weapon.

Holiday Skits

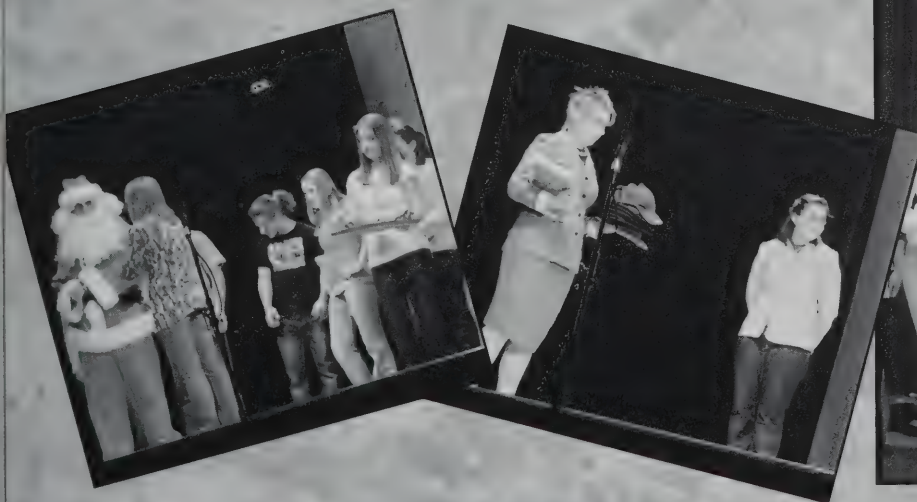

"Winter Wonderland"

On the Friday before winter break, the AHS student body had the great opportunity to experience the acting talents of their fellow classmates. The Play Production classes, along with the leadership of Mrs. Vallon-Jackson, performed a variety of skits and songs about the holiday season. The group of students worked very hard to put on this variety show for the school. They actually wrote some of the skits themselves. The scenes all portrayed an appreciation of holiday spirit and put the whole audience in the mood. The message was clear; one should appreciate their loved ones more than ever during this hectic part of the year. And of course, there is always the question of whether or not Santa Clause does exist, which two of the girls addressed in their short skit. However, the main highlight of the show was an original song called "The Twelve Days of High School," where Junior Emily Gendron, the main singer of the performance, was given an I.D. only to have it stolen, received a detention, got her lunch money taken, and other misfortunes that happen at Agawam High on a daily basis. However, the song was made complete with a surprise appearance by none other than Santa Clause. Honors Chorus, led by Ms. Funk, also presented their song "Carol of the Bells" to start things off. The show ended with a spectacular performance from Junior Andy Moffat, with his original rap "All I Could Do." These shows, during fourth and sixth period, were enjoyed by all who attended. It was a great way to end the school day before winter vacation and really got everyone in the mood for the holidays.

Above Top: Everyone really got a kick out of Ryan Liebel as Santa. He did an excellent job as he came out into the audience and interacted with the crowd.

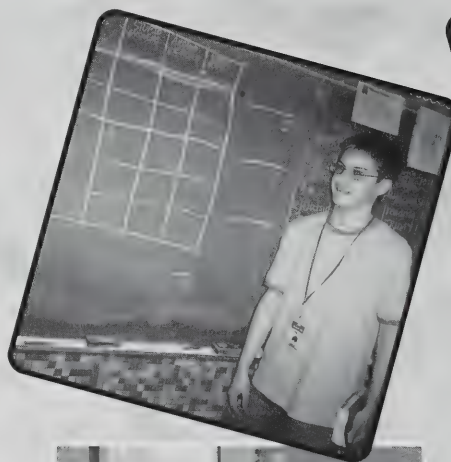

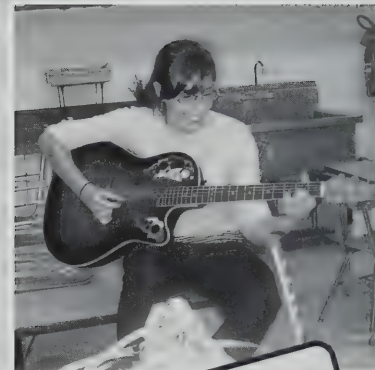

Right: Andy and Jenn have an intense dinner where he confesses his crush to her and she tells him more about her family. In the end, the couple really got to know each other better and everything worked out for the best.

Below: The students act out a few scenes from "The Twelve Days of High School." There were even appearances made by impersonators of Mrs. Conte and Mrs. Feyre collecting hats and asking for I.D.'s. This really amused the audience.

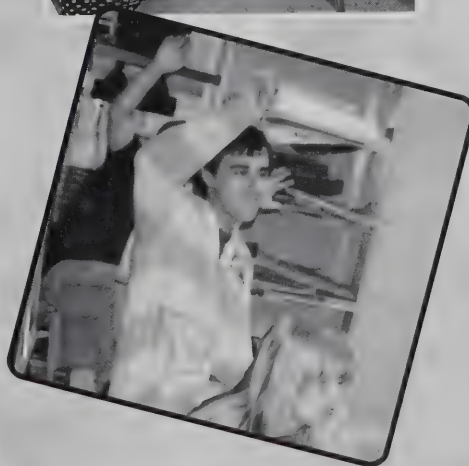

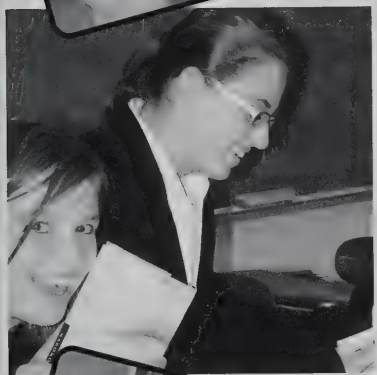

Clubs

Although only students are only required to spend six hours a day in school, many go above and beyond this expectation by participating in several after school clubs and activities. Every student is unique in his or her own way, and Agawam takes pride in the fact that there is a club offered for almost all types of interests a student may have. Whether it be displaying a talent in the Art Club, helping out the community by joining Peer Leadership, or enjoying a few fun board games after school with the Board Game Club, there is sure to be an activity for everyone. Students can be educated on how to preserve the environment in S.A.V.E., or learn to expand their horizons in Diversity Leadership. Many writing and literature clubs are offered, varying from The Mirror, Shakespeare Society, Intergenerational Book Club, Unicorn, or Young Authors Club. Many students also worked hard enough to qualify for the elite National Honor Society, History National Honor Society, Spanish and French NHS, or Quill and Scroll. Prom Committee did yet another wonderful job of planning and organizing the Prom, and all their hard work paid off in the end when everyone had a great time. Future Teachers of America ran the American Red Cross Blood Drives, where many students sat nervously awaiting to give blood for the first time. Regardless of what activity one may join, every club at Agawam High is designed to have fun and help out.

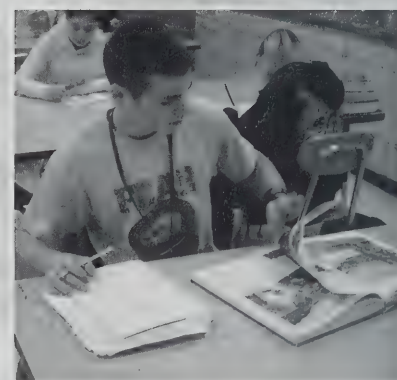

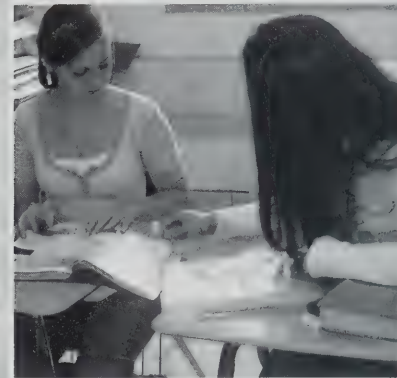

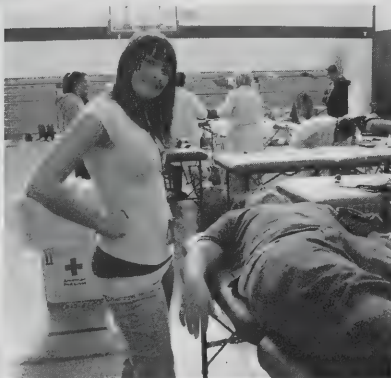

Agawam High has a club for absolutely everything you could imagine and if not, one can start a new club with only an advisor and five founding members.

Students like to get involved in any way they can to make a difference in our school as well as our community.

Clubs are a great way to meet new people with similar interests. Many friendships at AHS have been formed through simply joining an activity.

"Paint With all the Colors of the Wind"

If a student is looking for a unique and interesting way to express his or herself, the Agawam High Art Club is definitely a good place to start. Instructed by Ms. Waters and Mrs. Florek, an atmosphere of creativity and imagination is generated throughout this club. Students convey their feelings through artwork ranging from simple sketches to complicated clay sculptures. Don't be alarmed, for one does not necessarily need to be a present-day Picasso or even have "the artistic touch" in order to be a member of this club.

All students are welcome, and are there to enjoy themselves by sharing ideas with others while doing what they love. They also showcase these many talents for the rest of the school to appreciate at the Winter Arts Festival in December. In addition, the Art Club has greatly contributed to the school's Drama Department by creating visually appealing sets and props for our school plays. Agawam High counts on this club to keep us creative and one-of-a-kind, whether it be making pottery or painting the next Mona Lisa.

"Life Is The Art You Make"

In Art National Honors Society, members are selected based upon their artistic abilities and creative efforts, and therefore are invited to join this esteemed society. This club is filled with upperclassmen that have previously taken at least one semester of art and were recommended by the art faculty. In Art NHS, the members further their knowledge and experiment with various types of art, including, but not limited to, drawing, painting, pottery, and other forms as well. They become better artists with the influence of fellow members and the aesthetic guidance of Mrs. Florek and Ms. Waters.

The organization also alerts the school and community about the importance of art. They increase the awareness of art in relation to other subjects involved in the schools curriculum too. Their art is displayed in the annual Winter Arts Festival and in showcases around the school. In addition, their work is crammed in their art portfolios that they can send to numerous colleges. The work of these students is excellent and is something everyone should take time to appreciate.

The "As Schools Match Wits" group spends their time playing trivia games, cramming their brains with countless amounts of knowledge. Every Wednesday, Room 48 is filled with ASMW members energetically answering trivia questions and attempting to commit the never-ending facts to memory. These students are some of the best and the brightest that Agawam High has to offer. The categories featured on the game show that they prepare for are General Knowledge, World Events, Math and Science, Social Studies, Arts and Entertainment, and Literature. This year on "America's Longest Running High School Television Quiz Show Since 1961" their first match up was against Hampshire Regional and the team pulled off an outstanding score of 210-185. This is the highest score any AHS team has gotten in years and also the highest score in the ASMW season thus far. This major accomplishment could possibly take them to the playoffs this year. However, the younger students of ASMW are also very promising and in years to come it is a very good possibility that they may even take home the Championship Title. Nevertheless, even though it would be nice for them to win and make the playoffs, the members of "As Schools Match Wits" are all about having fun.

"Start The Commotion"

One of the largest clubs in Agawam High School is Athletes in Motion, known as AIM, which is made up of a large portion of Agawam's athletes. This club is run by Coach Pryce, Ms. Murray, and Coach Conte. Their goal is to be recognized as student athletes who give back to the community and who are positive role models for younger children. In the past, these students have raked leaves for elders, made care packages for soldiers in Iraq, and provided Christmas gifts to little girls and boys who are less fortunate. They kicked off the 2007 school year by volunteering at the Rotary Club, painting faces and nails, and playing a variety of games with small children. They also have many other activities planned for the remainder of the year. They plan on going to Heritage Hall and visiting with the elders, as well as going to a homeless shelter and serving meals. They are hoping on doing many other activities as well. This club is respected throughout the community. The athletes and advisors hope to uphold this high standard and live up to everyone's expectations.

"Get'cha Head In The Game"

The Board Game Club is a fun-filled group that establishes friendly competition with enjoyable games and time spent with friends along the way. Each week, the students vote on what particular game to play the following meeting, and are required to bring in the games themselves. This is where the friendly competition comes into play. Each time a student brings in a game, he or she receives two points. If the game is forgotten, the responsible student has two points deducted from his or her overall score. Points are also awarded for attending meetings regularly, and deducted for missing a meeting with an unexcused absence. Ideally, this running point system applies until the end of the year, when prizes are awarded to the members with the greatest number of points. Officers of this club include President Mary Marcil, Vice President Max Kibbe, Secretary Dan Sole, Treasurer Alex Cassell, and Point Master Kevin Mangano. The Point Master is the one appointed to keeping a log of the people who won points on that particular day. The Board Game Club is for anyone who likes fun mixed with contests and prizes, because a good time can be guaranteed by all who attend.

The Leaders in Violence Prevention of Agawam High are the former members of the Diversity Leadership group. The club has expanded and evolved since its creation. These devoted students learn how to use their own leadership capability in addressing and reducing many forms of violence in their school and community. They experience a number of exercises designed to demonstrate how important it is to become an active bystander to violence. Some of these exercises are combined into an all day event where they actually have guests visit and interact with them. While it is a learning experience, these activities are also fun and enjoyable for those who participate with an honest and sincere attitude. Additionally, members gain a better understanding of knowledge and skills for communicating and working positively in diverse settings as well as interacting positively with others at home, at school, at work and in the community. The few students who go on to become "trainers" in violence prevention conduct awareness raising activities with middle school, junior high and high school students. Of course, the more years a student is involved the more experienced he or she will become. However, this organization has been pretty successful striving for alternatives to violence thus far.

The Spanish and French National Honors Societies are clubs for the influential and cultural students who excel in their foreign language courses. Students of Spanish National Honors Society, or Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica, and French National Honors Society, or Societe Honoraire de Francais, are selected because of their exceptionally high level of academic achievement. Spanish NHS, under the patronage of the American Association for Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese, and French NHS, under the American Association of Teachers of French, both recognize students who have diligently applied themselves to their language of choice.

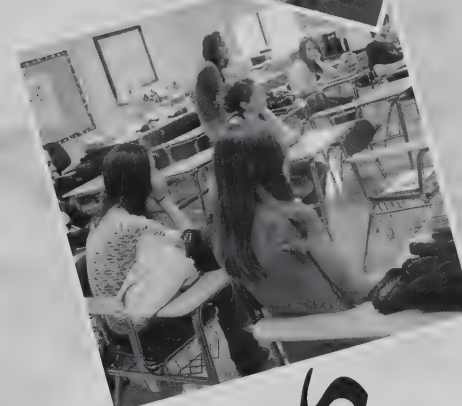

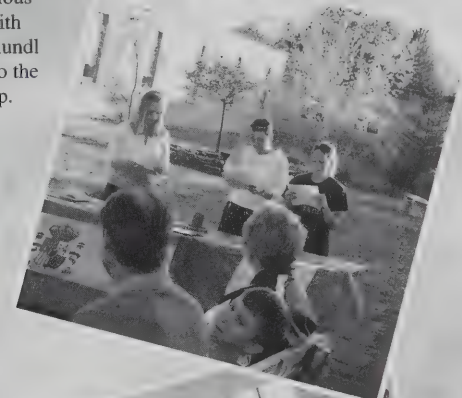

Advised by Senora Sasso, the Spanish National Honors Society met occasionally for foreign dinners. There, they spoke Spanish to one another while enjoying cultural cuisine from Spanish-native countries. Madame Kundl advised the French National Honors Society, and this year, just two talented students were able to qualify.

Both of these groups are societies for students who persevere with language study at the highest level. There was a special induction ceremony in the spring to recognize the hard work of these students. The members also receive special honor cords at graduation and get special mention in the graduation program.

"Children Are Our Future"

Future Teachers of America is a group of hardworking students whose goals are to become teachers in the future. The members are guided by the inspirational leadership of Signor Orefice and Mr. Figy, the advisors of this charitable club. The group organizes two annual Blood Drives, with the assistance of the Red Cross, at the high school for students and other members of the community. This fall, FTA held their first blood drive of the year, where over a hundred people volunteered to donate blood.

This great success was due partially to the club's fantastic Blood Drive Coordinators, Heather Thompson and Beth Hayden. The group also raises money for senior scholarships with snack sales and the Penny War competition between classes. President Julie Gorman, Vice President Luke Bromley, Secretary Karissa Venne, and Treasurer Liz Mattarazzo guide the club through these numerous events during the year. Future Teachers is a beneficial club open to anyone who wants to make a difference or pursue a career in teaching.

"Your Legacy"

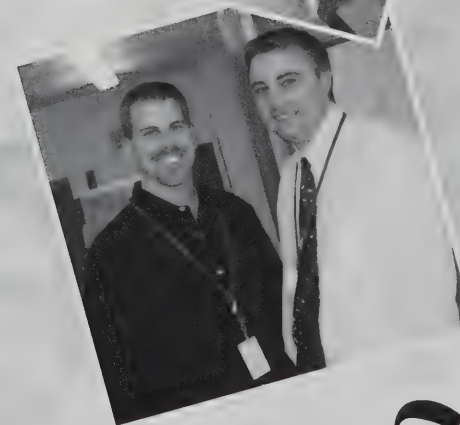

History National Honor Society is a group of hard-working seniors who have excelled in their history courses throughout the years. The group is also known as "Opus Bono Historiae," which means "work for the good of history." They help out the community in many different ways and work hard to maintain their good reputations. Leadership, diligence, and citizenship are all qualities that each student in this organization must possess. Advisors Mr. Jennings and Mr. Daley meticulously find and organize community service events in which this society can take part and give a helping hand.

Alongside them are President Julie Gorman, Vice President Chelsea Lafontaine, Treasurer Brett Longhi, and Secretary Erica Graves. Last spring, they were able to raise money for an elementary school in Kosovo to provide necessary school supplies. This year, Opus Bono was able to collect over a hundred coats for the Coats for Kids organization, providing warm jackets for less fortunate children. They also raised a significant amount of money to buy calling cards for soldiers in Iraq. Whether it be helping out the poor or bettering the community, these students continue to work hard to do what they can for others.

"Where Your Book Begins"

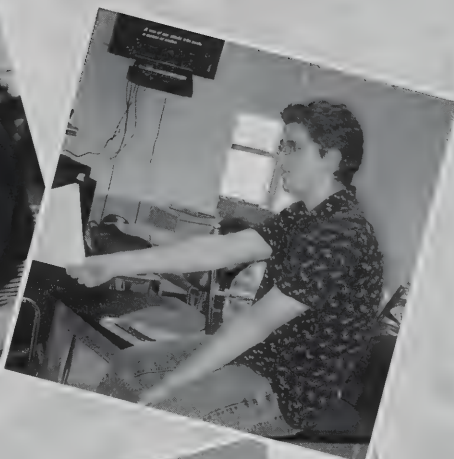

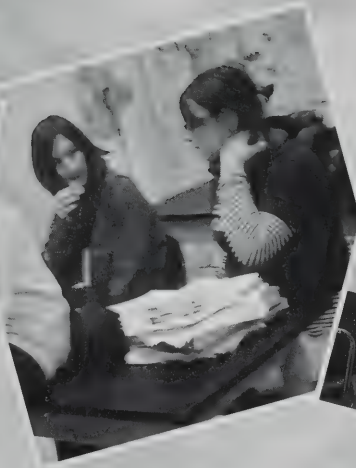

The Intergenerational Book Club is filled with students who love to read for fun. The group meets monthly, after the members have all read a book that they picked during the previous meeting. The novels are chosen by both the staff and the students, with everyone's input taken into consideration. Usually, the members decide on a popular and contemporary novel. Some books that have been read include Lolita by Vladimir Nabokov, Into the Wild by John Krakauer, The Picture of Dorian Gray by Oscar Wilde, and The Kite Runner by Khaled Hosseini. The group then has a meeting where the members discuss the chosen literary work at great length. They talk about the novel's plot, setting, characters, and conflicts in immense depth and voice their feedback to one another. During the discussions, Advisors Mr. Bodurtha and Madame Kundl join in with their own responses and constructive criticism.

Over the years, both advisors have encouraged their students to join the group, and many have. In fact, numerous members have been involved during all four years of high school. These students are able to openly express their opinions of the books with their peers. This is a great organization for all who enjoy reading and is a wonderful opportunity for avid readers to state their opinions and reactions to literary work.

Students interested in absolutely anything Japanese would immediately take a liking to the Japanese Club. Run this year by Mr. Buonagurio, the "J Club," as members call it, has prospered and evolved. Their weekly Wednesday meetings usually consist of about ten to fifteen members enjoying Japanese culture together in room 53. The topic of the meetings is decided the previous week and all members are asked to contribute to the learning experience as best they can. Their subject matter has ranged from culture, history, food, clothing, candy, literature, and anime to actually learning the language.

Alice Dao, a dedicated club member, taught the rest of her fellow peers Chinese one week. However, it is not a requirement to be able to teach a language to participate. Anything about the culture is appropriate for discussion. Members are encouraged to bring in their fan fiction writing or drawings and share them with the group as well. Actually, most of them are writers or artists of Japanese literature or artwork. By actively participating in "J Club," these students are broadening their horizons by learning more about cultures outside of their own.

The Knitting Club is comprised of students that share the love of knitting. Madame Kundl advises this creative group, where the only requirement is to bring a pair of knitting needles and yarn to the weekly Thursday meetings. The members discuss various knitting techniques and ideas as they create hats, scarves, blankets, and other knitted masterpieces. They also participate in charity knitting. Last year, the club knitted countless squares to create an afghan for the homeless. They hope to knit and donate something to a charity again this year. With their amazing skills these girls may be knitting hats for chemo patients.

While the club may not have been around for that long, they still have a good amount of participation. Eachweek the group varies depending on their current projects, but the door is always open if help is needed. Within the members, the skill levels also differ. While some students have been knitting for years and mastered complicated techniques others have just begun. However, these newcomers benefit from the expertise of others. But despite all else, the club is designed to allow for social interaction while knitting. The Knitting Club is simply full of creative students who have a great time knitting in each other's company.

One of the most beneficial organizations at the Agawam High School is the Leo Club. This group is a division of the well-known Lions Club in Agawam, and was formed last year by Ms. Waters. The Leo Club is now being advised Ms. Watson and Mr. Burns. Meeting every Tuesday in room 54, President Nathan Lovotti and Vice President Samantha Sharkey lead the twenty-five dedicated students involved. These students have a very prestigious inauguration ceremony in the spring and also a Charter from the Lions Club with their names at the bottom. Among various community service projects, this club also raises money to help people with disabilities, and of course assists the Lions Club at multiple events.

These dedicated students spent many hours volunteering to assist the members of the Lions Club during the very busy 2007 season. The members lent a hand at the Big E this year, along with National Honor Society, by serving food and cleaning up afterward at the Lions Club pavilion. Currently, they are working on building a ramp for the I-Mobile. This bus transports the disabled to the optometrist and the ramp would provide easier access. It is a very tough but noble task, for it takes a lot of work to build a ramp that can support a bus full of people. No matter what the project, these students are all about giving to others.

"Hip to Be Square"

If someone was to walk into Mrs. Tuthill's room on a Monday afternoon they would find about nine people working on math problems. These students are part of Agawam High School's Math Team. Their meetings consist of not only redoing past math problems, but also deciding many key factors for their competitions.

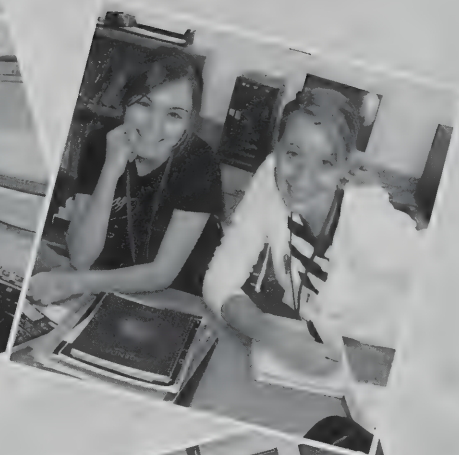

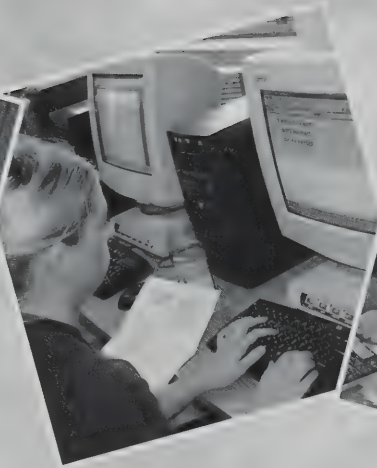

Math meets occur the first Tuesday of every month from October through February and they try to give everyone a chance to compete. However, Alex Cassell, the team's highest scorer, competes at all the meets. Six students participate in the six rounds which consist of different math subjects: Algebra I, Euclidian Geometry, Algebra II,

Trigonometry, and Pre-calculus. Each team member competes in three rounds. There are three questions in each round and the competitor has ten minutes to complete them. The first question is worth one point, the second, two and the third, three. At the end of the competition, the points are totaled and the top ten teams are announced.

Usually Agawam does not make the top ten, however, the team did place tenth in one of their meets this year, for the first time in about five years. This was very rewarding for these students, as all of their hard work finally paid off. These students enjoy math and challenging themselves for fun.

The Mirror is the Agawam High School newspaper that students work very hard to create every couple of months. In order to qualify for the production of the paper, Journalism I is required. Journalism II and III are focused on producing solid issues. The class is run by the students and each person has their own staff and role that contributes to the creation of this excellent paper. Kate Malone is the Editor-in-Chief along with Associate Editor Brandon Chase. These students are in charge of all final edits in order to provide for a perfect paper. Other editors include

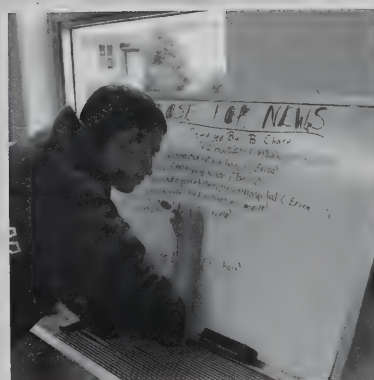

Arts and Entertainment Editor Brett Longhi, Sports Editor Mike Counos, News Editor Noelle Myers, and Photo Editor Brittany Beaudette. Each editor is in charge of the people on their staffs and edits their staffers' articles. Danielle Burns is the head of all ad sales, and works extremely hard to get ads for the paper. The students are required to work towards specific deadlines which can be very overwhelming at times. The Mirror staff creates many solid issues for AHS students to read and enjoy at their leisure, and are proud of their hard work.

National Honors Society is one of the most respectable and influential organizations at Agawam High. Its members must maintain a minimum of a 3.5 GPA, be enrolled in two honors and/or AP classes, and be involved in at least two in-school activities. They also must show strong leadership and good character. Students that meet these criteria in their junior year are then sworn in to the society during a memorable ceremony. The members of NHS are looked up to as role models of the school while balancing their academics, sports, and clubs, as well as a commitment to complete forty hours of community service.

To influence and guide the members through this are their amazing advisors, Mrs. Mouneimneh, Senora Sasso, and Mrs. Stevens. Their meetings are held every other Tuesday and are run by President Karissa Venne, Vice President Meghan Little, Secretary Heather Thompson, Treasurer Liz Mattarazzo, and Sergeant-at-Arms Adam Gonyeau. These meetings are the base of their planning for raising money for senior scholarships throughout the year and the Toy for Joy Drive during the Christmas Season. The NHS members also assist the Lions Club at the Big E along with countless other charity and volunteer opportunities that arise.

Peer Leadership is an organization that works hard to promote healthy lifestyles for the community. They raise awareness about drugs and alcohol by setting good examples themselves. One such event is when the Peer Leaders go to the middle school and junior high in November for the National Smokeout, which is a campaign against smoking. Later in the year, they alert the high school student body about the horrors of drunk driving. During Grim Reaper Day, students walk the halls in black, representing irresponsible drivers. Every other year, on the same day, the Mock Accident is performed to visually show what can happen when teens drive drunk.

The group also stays busy with numerous charity events and fundraising efforts. An annual event is Costume Week, where homerooms compete for a Breakfast Bonanza. This year, Peer Leaders raised over two thousand dollars, which they donated to assist Aimee Beaudette and her family. They also host the Silent Auction and sell snacks to raise money for senior scholarships. Peer Leadership achieved so much throughout the year with the help of their two new advisors: Ms. Miller and Mr. Tatro, who really stepped up to the plate and took control of this club. They help all the Peer Leaders provide excellent examples for all of the students of Agawam High.

"You Don't Have to Worry"

Throughout high school, students are inevitably going to have all sorts of issues and problems that need resolving. A lot of these students need some assistance in handling their problems in a cool, calm, and collective manner. The peer mediators gladly lend a hand to those who need help in solving issues and differences. It is vital that no matter what disputes and issues arise, they are resolved in a peaceful matter. For each grade, there are five peer mediators, so that the students feel comfortable with their own peers helping them.

These particular mediators are trained at the Junior High School as early as eighth grade so they may obtain the credentials necessary to take on this task. To refresh their memories and rejuvenate what they have learned, they attend the Peacemaker Summit meeting each year in June located at Hampshire College. This seminar is a way for all of the mediators in the Pioneer Valley to come together and learn more. Advisor Mr. Figy works hard and is dedicated to making sure his mediators are well-trained, and the group is always a huge help here at Agawam High.

The Peer Tutoring program in our school has been around for years. However, under the guidance of Mr. Kandar, it has really taken off this year. Students that need help in any of their subjects will find a highly qualified tutor can assist them if they attend a Monday or Thursday meeting in room 22. The members dedicate their time and skills to help make the school a better place. These tutors are some of the smartest, most involved kids in the school and it is a wonder that the room is not filled to the brim with students waiting to take advantage of this excellent service.

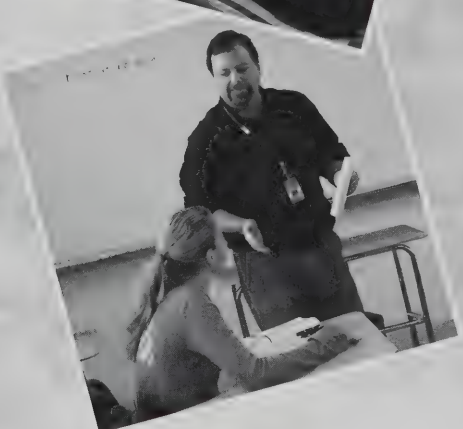

Whether it is only help on a single assignment or a need for weekly assistance, this is definitely the right place to go. It is an easy way to get quality tutoring for the low, low price of absolutely nothing. Plus, with their amazing qualifications and as peers, these tutors are able to break the subject down for anyone to understand and also to make it enjoyable. Mr. Kandar and the rest of the members have definitely added a spark and a lot of hard work to the Peer Tutoring organization this year. More students should take advantage of this service. After all, it is what they're there for.

When one thinks about their senior year, among the bustle of their classes and college applications, one main event comes to mind: the prom. The Junior-Senior Prom is one of the most memorable events of the high school years. Without the dedication of the Prom Committee, the prom would not take place. This year, the Prom Committee was led by the prom managers Nicole Cameron and Autumn Paro with advisor Mr. Trahan. Under their direction this artistic group, took up their power tools and safety gear, and went to work creating creative custom masterpieces for the event. Hours upon hours were spent sanding, painting, and sewing, to give our prom a unique look that the students of Agawam truly deserve.

The 2008 prom theme was "An Under the Sea Odyssey." Prom goers were delighted as they dived in to an undersea world of tropical delights. Features this year included an expanded seating area with two separate ballrooms and dueling DJ's, a pirate ship complete with treasure chest, and centerpieces featuring tropical fish swimming amongst a variety of shells and starfish.

When the event was over, we remembered the many individuals, including students, parent volunteers, and community members that gave so generously of their time to create awesome memories and give us the best prom in Western Massachusetts.

In addition to all of the National Honor Societies at Agawam High, Quill and Scroll is a prestigious organization filled with some of the same promising students. Quill and Scroll was founded on April 10, 1926 to acknowledge and encourage individual student achievements in journalism and educational publications. At AHS, seniors recognized in this society must be a staff member of the Mirror, the Sachem, or the Uniqorn. The advisors of these staffs, Ms. Davis, Mr. Trahan, and Mrs. Hines, recommended the thirteen talented students for this honor society. Along with their outstanding hard work and recommendation, each member must be in the upper third of the senior class.

Not only do they all put forth an amazing effort in their extracurricular work, but also in their academic studies. At their first meeting in February, the Quill and Scroll members chose and voted for their four officers: President Erica Graves, Vice President Becky Colson, Secretary Emilia Grimaldi, and Treasurer Julie Gorman. The students were honored at a special ceremony in the spring, where they each received a gold pin issued by the University of Iowa. At Awards Night, the members were then awarded with blue and gold tassels that were worn at graduation. In the future, these students will be extremely successful in any career that they choose to pursue because of their unwavering dedication and motivation in this society.

The esteemed Rosie Robotics Team of Agawam High School demonstrates a vast knowledge of technology with their own designed and produced robots. This group of students uses their experience with mathematics and science to build a new robot each year. The students engineer and manufacture the robot themselves with the help of their advisor Mr. Barry and other community volunteers. Our Agawam team competed in the Bash at Beach competition in Old Lyme, Connecticut on October 13. The group finished in third place out of the twenty seven robots. They also came in nineteenth place in the River Rage competition in Manchester, N.H. on October 27. Rosie also competed in the unique FIRST (For Inspiration of Science and Technology) Robotics Competition. The kick-off of the six week season began on January 5th, in which all teams planned, and constructed their robot. All 1,500 teams were shown the new design challenge at this event, which started the brainstorming and building of their creations. They also put on a variety of performances at school events and hosted an assortment of fundraisers. For example, Robotics organized a ziti dinner at the American Legion and raised over $1,300. Rosie Robotics works hard throughout the school year in all of their competitions and are looking forward to success in later contests.

Students Against Destructive Decisions, more commonly known as S.A.D.D., consists of a group of students who lead very respectable lives. This club provides information about the penalties and consequences of making poor decisions. Mrs. Bobskill, the new advisor, did a fantastic job of leading the group this year. Along with the help of President Theresa Glod, Vice President Brianne Brinkmann, Secretary Carisa Bobskill, and Treasurer Ryan Peucker, she and the other members of S.A.D.D. inspire the young adults of Agawam High to make smart choices. This group of students help show that not giving into peer pressure is the best decision a person could make. Their biggest event of the year is National Red Ribbon Week.

During the last week of October, students are encouraged to wear red ribbons to show their commitment to keep a healthy, drug-free lifestyle. To promote Red Ribbon Week, the members of S.A.D.D. put together a colorful bulletin board of pictures and information. This year, students were rewarded for being drug-free with raffle tickets to win an assortment of prizes. S.A.D.D. also took part in The American Heart Association Heart Walk on April 20. In its third year of existence, S.A.D.D. has made a big difference in the lives of the student body of Agawam High with their many efforts. This group helps all students to become the best people they can possibly be to then have happy, safe, and healthy lifestyles.

"Waiting On The World To Change"

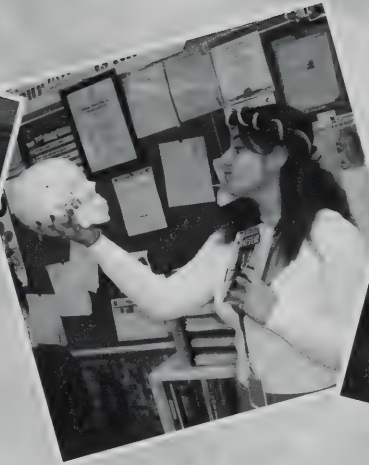

S.A.V.E., also known as Students Against Violating the Environment, is a beneficial club whose purpose is to disseminate information about the environment to the school and community. They promote recycling and divulge information about global warming, along with other various tactics to protect the Earth. Mrs. Bertone-Gross leads these eager students on their quest to increase awareness of the numerous problems in our world today. President Maxine Dudek, Vice President Becca Montano, Secretary Noelle Myers, and Treasurer Brett Longhi assist with this goal inspiring S.A.V.E. members at the regular Thursday meetings.

The members participate in numerous attempts to help the environment in our community and school. They assist the Westfield River Watershed Association with the Westfield River Clean-Up and they plan on cleaning up the high school later in the year. One of S.A.V.E.'s most significant events is the annual Walk to School Day in June, when members and students volunteer to walk to school one day instead of driving or taking the bus. This simple act saves gas and prevents pollution on that day. S.A.V.E. does a great job informing the schools' population about how they can help to protect and preserve the environment.

Shakespeare Society is a highly respected club. Led by Mrs. Mouneimneh and Mr. Tatro, the members honor the life and work of the Bard, William Shakespeare. They creatively promote his great accomplishments by performing short skits based on his collection of plays for the students during Shakespeare Week in April. Students also design posters about the Bard that are hung around the school and write Shakespearean trivia to challenge the students.

This group is made up of an array of AHS students, the majority being seniors. The AP English 12 class is required to participate in this club as part of their curriculum, and is a great asset to the Shakespeare Society's activities. The club is led by its outstanding officers: Emily Baker as Lady Chamberlain, Dan Walsh as Lord Chamberlain, Becky Colson as the Scribe, and Matt Howe as the Gaveler. "Just Ski"

The Ski Club is a fun and exciting club open to all students who enjoy skiing and/or snowboarding. Because of limited space about twenty-five to thirty members get the chance to enjoy the benefits of this club each year. Returning members get the chance to join again first, then the club accepts any newcomers hoping to be involved. This year, there was a pretty equal amount of skiers and snowboarders in the club. Advised by Mr. Hollister and Mr. Consolini, the group has a great time on the slopes at various ski resorts both near and far. They participate in the most popular winter activity on six different trips throughout January, February, and March. The Ski Club travels on five Friday trips and one full day Saturday event to neighboring ski resorts and have a great time. On the mountains, the group can ski or snowboard pretty much on their own. Most of the time their two advisors enjoy the fluffy white snow with them. The two of them really enjoy skiing and having fun with the members. On the other hand, they can also chose to relax and regroup in the warm comforts of the lodge. Some resorts have even given the AHS students their own private school lodge to enjoy. They have a cafeteria style dinner and endless amounts of hot chocolate in these lodges. All of its members really enjoy these wintry sports and have fun sharing this experience with their friends in this perfect atmosphere.

Student Government plays a vital role in the school as well as in the community. They work towards improving the overall school atmosphere and environment at AHS. This club thinks of different ideas and suggestions that will help to create a better experience for all students throughout their high school careers. Advisor Mr. Murphy works hard to think of fresh ideas and community service for his club. Every Wednesday this group meets and discusses ways in which they can help out and improve their high school.

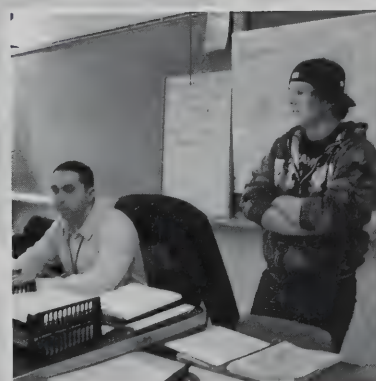

The club officers include President Kimberly Dorans, Vice President Kaitlyn Weyant, Treasurer Cori Geiger, and Secretary Anthony Stork. This year, Student Government was able to raise a substantial amount of money for a family who lost their home and belongings in a fire. They also ran a mock presidential primary during this year. No matter what project it may be, Student Government gives back to the community in more ways than one.

The Uniqorn creates and distributes a book full of creative writing and artwork every year. Along with writing their own contributions, the Uniqorn also accepts submissions from outside students. This literary magazine is a great opportunity for students to have their work published. One can submit poems, short stories, pictures, art, or graphics. The club then compiles the countless creative works into a single book that is handed out to the school.

For years, Mrs. Hines has offered her guidance and assistance to this excellent publication. This year she also had wonderful leadership on her staff, Editor Noelle Myers and Associate Editor Jessica Burkavage, who put in their extra time and effort to create something special. They produce a unique book that can be appreciated by the whole school. The club is also planning to submit their final product into The AIC Competition in hopes for an award for their efforts.

The Young Authors Club is a group for aspiring novelists and screenplay writers. This club offers students the opportunity to work diligently on their own pieces, while allowing them to utilize the online and book resources made available through our school's library. With these materials, they are able to conduct the necessary research for their work in order to make it the best it can be. The club meets once a week on Thursday afternoons, and reserves one meeting a month for editing and critiquing each others' works.

Here the students are able to use constructive criticism, share their thoughts and ideas, and give their own suggestions to others. Advisors Ms. Davis and Mrs. Moren work to help the students also, and encourage these writers with their never failing assistance and support. The creativity and imagination possessed by many of these young authors will surely keep the club going strong throughout the years at AHS.

"We're All In This Together"

Year after year, we have taken the yearbook for granted, as all the underclassmen still will. It was not until this year that the twenty of us got a wake up call and realized how much work really goes into the production of a yearbook. As the year began and the creation of this wonderful book was in full swing, we were all overwhelmed with the workload that was bestowed upon us. Led by Advisor Mr. Trahan, the staff was ready to rise to the challenge.

The Layout Staff, consisting of Editor Sahar Kafi, Eliz Martino, Andrea Simmons, and Shaunna Howe, worked diligently in creating appealing, fun layouts for all the different sections of the yearbook. They spent many hours at home perfecting and touching up layouts. Their original templates were nothing short of amazing. In the end, everyone was impressed and excited about the way the designs came together.

The staff's Co-Editors, Liz Mattarazzo and Emilia Grimaldi, really pulled this book together with smiles and dedication. The two of them worked to make sure the staff stayed on top of their tasks in order to make their deadlines. They slaved for hours over proofs making sure all the pages were uniform and that misspellings, grammar and misplaced pictures were revised and edited.

To fill in all of the layouts, the Literary and Sports Staff was very busy writing and correcting their endless write-ups. The majority of the articles in this year's book were composed by either Editor Karissa Venne, Lindsay Jacks, Danielle Stelma or Noelle Myers. They chased down club advisors and team coaches in order to get their stories straight, in time to meet their deadlines. It was definitely not an easy task.

"We're all in this together,
Once we see there's a chance that we have,
And we take it!"
- "We're All In This Together" by the HSM Cast

Besides write-ups, the pages need pictures, and the Photography Staff came through with amazing candids and portraits. Editor Julie Gorman, Erica Graves, Nikki Lownds, and Kim Gohn went all over town taking pictures of businesses and all over school getting candid pictures bring the yearbook to life. Without their spectacular skills, this book would not exist.

The funding for the yearbook would have been limited if it was not for the Advertising Staff raising all of the money. The outstanding efforts of Editor Nikki Desimone and Ashley Williams were the reasons this book was able to happen. Without their advertising to the student body to purchase the book and to the businesses to sponsor our endeavor, our yearbook would not have been financially possible.

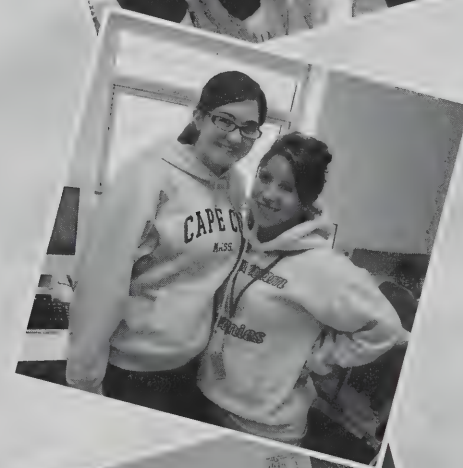

To keep track of all the money the Advertising Staff brings in, the organizational skills of the Business Staff came in handy. Manager Laura D'Angelo and Danielle Gamache, with outside assistance from Christine Davignon, entered orders and kept track of all of the money and funds that were received. They made sure that we had enough in order to produce this yearbook.

Any extra tasks, the odds and ends, were picked up by Carla Rosatti and Intern Brianne Brinkmann. These two were basically a part of every staff and were always willing to lend a hand throughout the year, not complaining once, even when they were stuck with the unfortunate dirty work.

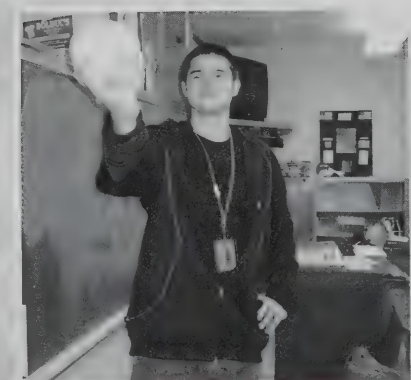

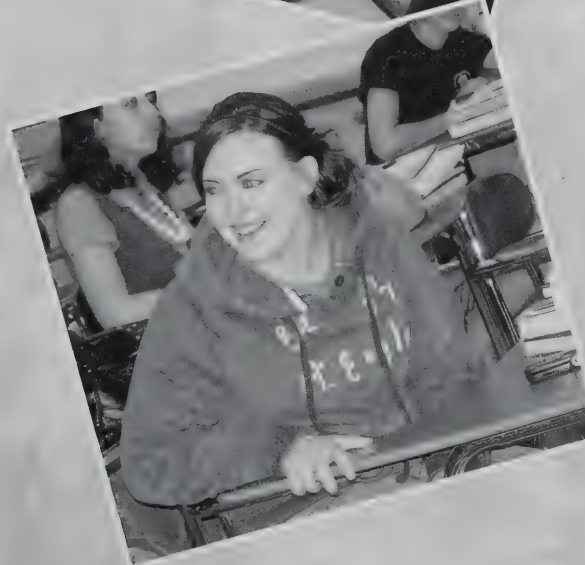

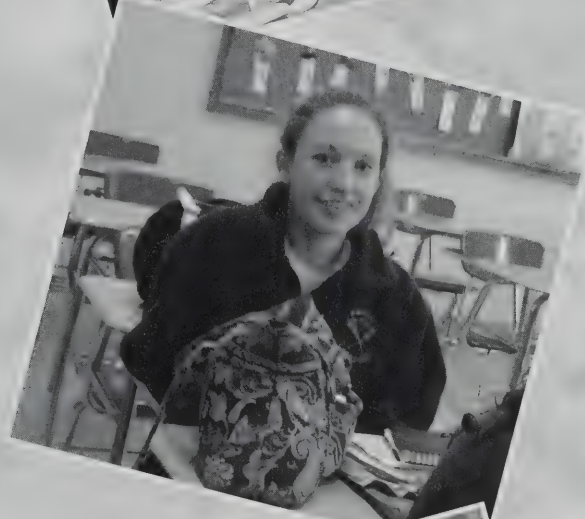

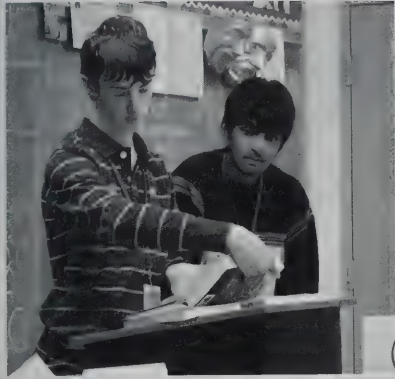

All in all, the yearbook staff worked very well together and had a great time. We were able to progress through any disagreements and problems with great ease. All are very happy with the outcome of this book.

The 2007-2008 Yearbook Staff leaves deadlines, proofs, and stress to the next years Yearbook Staff. Good luck and enjoy!

You can dust it off and try again, try again"
-Aaliyah

This time last year I realized that I would have to write an editor's page. That time came soon enough, and it was a lot easier than I originally thought. As an intern last year, I learned the ins and outs of yearbook. There was so much that I did not know. Over the course of the year, everything became clear. There were countless after school nights till at least three to get layouts finished to submit to the plant, and that was just as an intern on the layout staff, not an editor. The editors stayed even later with Senora Kolodziej. That was when I completely understood what I had signed up for. All of the hard work paid off. When the books arrived, they looked phenomenal. But they would never be like this one.

Finally, my time had come as Editor-in-Chief. However, without all of the hard work that you, the staff, contributed, I don't think that we would have had such a good start. The senior kits went out and everything was in motion. Soon we were receiving the kits back as well as ads from businesses. Layout did a tremendous job, and got everything in on time. The literary staff went through countless quotes, captions, wills, directories, and write-ups. The photography team got everything that we needed photographed. The business and ads staffs sent out a huge number of letters for ad sales, raising quite a bit of money. Thank you to everyone for all of the hard work that you put in this year. The book is outstanding!

Liz, I can't thank you enough for all of your help. The two of us spent a lot of time editing and going over everything to make this the best yearbook possible. It was great to work with you. Mr. Trahan, thank you for taking over this difficult task when no one else would. You were tough and very strict, but it all paid off. Even though we had personality differences and are both headstrong, it was great to be able to work with you.

Mom and Dad, thank you for everything. I couldn't have gotten this far in everything I do, if it was not for the two of you. Your support and help has meant a lot to me. Daniella and Mikey, thank you for everything you have done for me. Nonni, I can't thank you enough. You are one in a million and I never want to lose you. I would also like to give you a special thank you for all of your hard work and help with the pasta supper fundraiser. T and Co, thank you for always believing in me and telling me never to give up. Concetta, you are a great cousin. Amanda and Vanessa, thanks for everything and I will always remember, "One best cousin isn't enough, but two best cousins is enough." Your support has been tremendous. You have always believed in me. To all of you, you mean everything to me. I appreciate everything that you have given up and done for me. With your love and support, I know I can do anything I dream of. I love all of you. Nonno, I miss and love you.

Kristina, Ivana, and Jessica, the three of you have been the greatest anchors ever. There is so much to say, but I can't find the words to thank you for all of the help you have given me over the years. When I needed someone to talk to, you were there. Without your help and support, I couldn't do all that I do. I love the three of you like sisters and never want to lose you as the best friends that you are. We shared so many good times and have helped the other during hard times. The three of you mean the world to me.

*"When you think back on all we've done,
I hope you're proud.
When you look back
And see how far we've come!"
- Carrie Underwood*

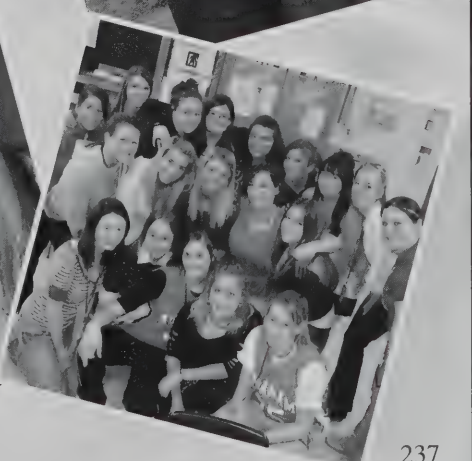

If we are all reading this, it means that high school is officially over, at least for the Class of 2008 and myself. It just went by so quickly, yet not so quickly at the same time, and definitely had a bittersweet ending. While I know we are all happy to have graduated, we are going to miss this place and all of our friends. But, of course, at least we have this yearbook to look back on as a keepsake.

The 2008 Sachem Staff may have had a rocky journey, but I know that we pulled off a yearbook we are all going to be proud of. Obviously, Mr. Trahan put in a lot of extra time and effort to make sure that this yearbook was something we all will want to remember. The 2008 Sachem Staff would not have made it without him and I am sure that in years to come many editors will say the same thing. Then of course, Emilia, my other co-editor, who I could not have done this without and whose unyielding passion and dedication I will never stop appreciating for sharing with all of us. I have to say, the other staff editors this year - Karissa, Julie, Sahar, Laura and Nikki - were absolutely amazing. They all deserve so much credit for everything that they have done for this yearbook and I know that I could not begin to thank them enough for it. However, even if the staff member was not an editor or advisor, they still did their parts and it took every person on the staff to make the 2008 yearbook what it is. I know that this is an experience we are all never going to forget.

This is where it gets difficult. Of course, I have to thank my friends and family for putting up with me for all these years of high school, especially this year because I know it could not have been easy. We have all made it through a lot together and I do not think I would be the person I am today if it were not for everyone along the way. The memories I have from high school and especially my senior year, I will never forget (especially since I took so many pictures of them). I am going to miss seeing all of you every day next year; it just will not be the same.

To my family, Mom, Dad, and Ange, I want to thank you for always being there for me because you mean more to me than words can say. I know that things are going to change in the fall, but my love will not. As for Karissa and Laura, high school definitely would not have been the same without the two of you. You two are the best friends a girl could ask for and no matter what happens, it will stay that way. Meg, my oldest friend, we made it through twelve years together, and I know there will be more to come. And then there is Alex, the one who got to deal with me in all the best and worst of times. You have literally been my savior these past couple years and I love you for that. Last, but certainly not least, the rest of the amazing girls that made my high school experience worth living - Beth, Becky, Kaela, Kristen, and Jess. The memories will last us forever.

And now I guess this is it, the end of all things familiar. Here is where we all have to take our own paths and hope that someday they may lead back to one. There are no guarantees in life but we will always, no matter how, have the memories from our time here at Agawam High to take with us on our separate journeys.

*"There's two things I know for sure.
She was sent here from heaven, and she's daddy's little girl."
- "Butterfly Kisses" by Bob Carlisle*

Just like the lyrics to "Butterfly Kisses" by Bob Carlisle, parents watch their children grow and mature. In the blink of an eye, children become teenagers, and teenagers become responsible young adults. Parents are there to help "daddy's little girl" or their "big boy" through the good times and the challenging ones. Parents help shape their children into whom they will become. Throughout the years, their children have developed their own personalities and individual styles. Parents will always love their children for whom they are and what they have accomplished.

Kimberly A Bock

Kimbo,

Congratulations. Thank you for making us so proud of you and bringing us so much happiness and joy.

You have grown up so quickly from our beloved little "Clumpage" into such a beautiful young lady. You are truly unique. You are independent, self-confident, and have a mind of your own. You are not afraid to stand up for what you believe in and think is right, even when others disagree. You are fiercely loyal and stand by those close to you through good times and bad.

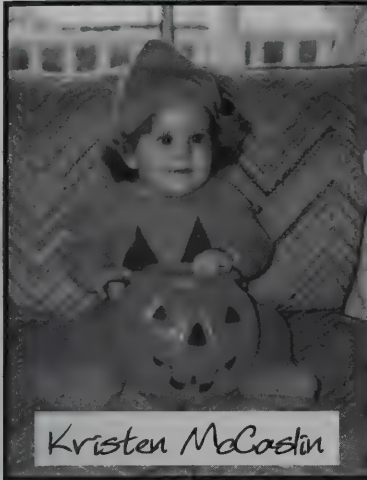

You are tough, yet compassionate, generous, supportive, and caring. You are grounded and have a good moral compass. You are balanced. You know how to have a good time, but also know when to hunker down when things get serious. You are dependable and reliable. You have a great sense of humor and an infectious personality.

Your spirit, energy, strength, drive, and determination will get you far in life. You can overcome any challenge or hurdle. Set your goals high. We have every confidence that you will succeed.

We love you very much. We will always be there, with and for you. Go get 'em!

Love Mom, Dad, and Jenn

Kristen,

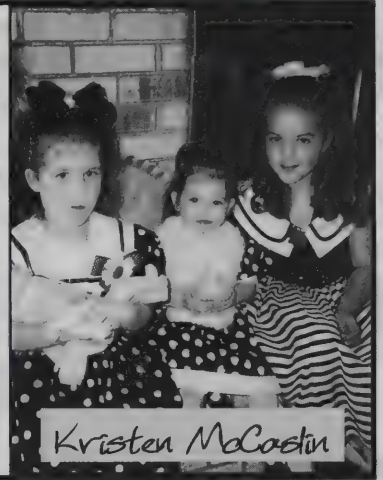

You are beautiful, bubbly, a challenge, silly, and Daddy's little princess. Always remember... baby steps. Be yourself and look forward to the future. You make us proud.

As you graduate high school, one part of life's journey has come to an end but many more are waiting to be experienced. Remember the joy and the laughter for today and twenty years after. Live each day to the fullest. Enjoy everything about your future journeys. Don't be afraid to take a chance. Don't always take the path most traveled. Sometimes you need to step off the path and make your own way. Spread your wings and learn to fly. Set your goals way up high. Make a wish and follow your dreams. All goals worth achieving require hard work, dedication, taking a chance, and making a change. Always remember who you are and where you're going. Don't lose sight of your dreams and always know that wherever you are, whatever you do, we will be behind you; either to give you that push you may need or to catch you if you fall. We know you can accomplish all your goals in life and we will be there for you every step of the way.

Congratulations. We love you,
Mom and Dad

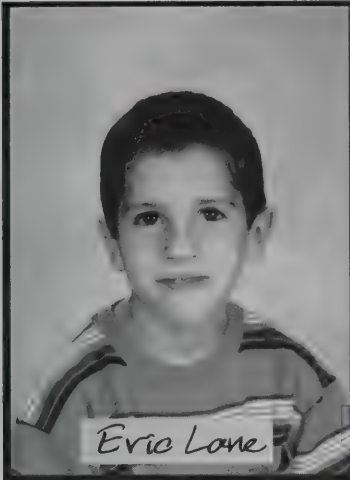

Kaela,

Congratulations. We are so proud of you. You have grown into a beautiful, thoughtful, and caring young lady. Enjoy every minute of college, you can do anything you set your mind on! Follow your dreams and give it your all. We will always be here for you! We love you!

Emilia Anna Grimaldi

Emilia,

We've waited four long years for this day to come. I know we didn't say it to you often enough, but we are so very, very proud of you. I tended to put a lot of pressure on you because we are so much alike. We've had our moments, but at this moment in time I want you to know there is no one I'm more proud of. You strived to be the best that you could be. You sacrificed going out and hanging out to make sure you got it right and it has paid off. Your father and I call you the "genius" and that's because what comes hard to others comes easy to you. We want the best for you, more than you'll ever know. We want so much for you, even though sometimes it's hard for us to say it. From Dad, Daniella, Mikey, and Mama, may your success continue, may you find happiness, and everything you ever want.

Love,

Ma, Dad, Daniella, and David-Michael

Nicole Lawnds

Nicole Marie DeSimone

To our daughter,

Words cannot describe the pride and joy we have for you. We have watched you grow from a little girl to an impressive young woman.

As you start on the next journey of your life, we reflect on all of the things you have accomplished in such a short time. A parent couldn't ask for a better daughter. We are blessed to have you and know that whatever you do you will be successful.

You have been an outstanding role model to your sister and at times even to us as your parents! Although we will miss you greatly while you are away at college, we know we have done our job as parents and that you will flourish even more in your new environment. We love you and are very proud!

Go knock their socks off! The world is yours to explore!

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Bianca

Bryana Pratt

We watched you grow from a pretty little princess to a beautiful woman with many talents and great faith. Continue to reach for the moon. We love you and are very proud of you.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Danielle Fife

Dear Danielle,

It has been an absolute joy seeing you everyday in school. Watching you grow from a shy freshman to a confident senior. You are the light of my life, the pride in my heart. Work hard for your goals and you will achieve them. Look to the stars and Dad will guide you.

Love,
Mom and Katie

Frank J. Liberti II

Time has flown. While we miss the little boy with the mischievous smile, we are very proud of the man that has evolved. Your determination, integrity, and character have never steered you wrong. Keep listening. Your future is out there. Go get it!

Love,
Mom and Dad

The first time I met you, you pulled my hair. It was a rocky start, but I couldn't ask for a better brother. I'm so proud of you and so are our "special angels."

Love,
Lauren

Liz Mattarazzo

Time flies and now you're ready to take the next step towards your future. You've always made us proud of who you are, and what you believe in. We know you will continue to excel.

We love you!
Mom and Dad

Joseph Largay

Our little big man has grown up. You always lead with your head and the rest will follow. We are very proud of the young man you have become. You are the only one that can make your dreams come true.

Love,
Dad, Mom, Becky, and Mike

Christina Diane Barbarisi

Chrissy,

Time has just whisked by us and our sweet little Munchkin has transformed into a lovely young lady! You have brought much joy and happiness into our lives!

All our love always,
Mom, Dad, and Angie

Jessica Simeri

We are so proud of you. You've always put God first and it shows in all you do. Your future holds unlimited possibilities for you. Reach for the stars.

We love you always.
Mom, Dad, and Sissy

Ashley Williams

Ashley,

From the day you were born we knew you were special! You can and will achieve all that you want out of life. Keep on reaching for the stars and never settle for anything less! We love you and are very proud of you.

Love,
Mom, Daddy, Brian, Aimee, Cory, Kelsey,
Isabelle and Boston

Christina Paquette

Christina,

Twelve years have gone by so fast. You are always cheerful and outgoing. We've become close friends. I will miss you when you go to college. The last child at AHS! Remember the pathways of success bring you a brighter future. Good luck with what your future may bring. Find happiness, always stay strong and faithful.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Annie, and Melissa

Kelsey Reed

Joshua and Kelsey,

May you never stop climbing to reach your dreams. We love you and wish you much success and happiness.

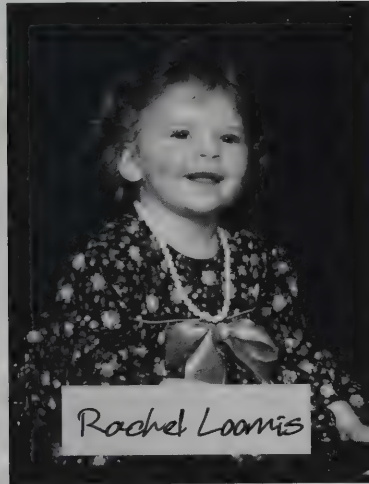

Love,
Mom and Dad

We are very proud of your accomplishments and look forward to you fulfilling your future dreams.

With love,
Mom, Dad, Catherine,
Tricia, Kaylee, and the Mrows

Always make the most of whatever comes your way. We love you and wish you the best of luck in the future.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Justina DiSantis

Justina,

It seems like yesterday that you graduated from kindergarten. Stay focused and all of your dreams will come true. Remember that you will always be our baby.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Your big sister will always be here for you.

Love,
Celina

Bryan Shields

Bryan,

What a great seventeen years we have had together and how quickly they have passed! We are so proud of you. You are the best son anyone could ask for. Kind, loving, smart, talented, and strong-willed are only a few of your qualities. We know whatever you decide to do in life you will be successful. You are so loved by us, your sister, friends, all of your cousins, aunts, uncles, and grandparents. We have seen you grow from a shy little boy to a confident, witty, and handsome young man of great character. Stay true to your values, follow your dreams, and know that we will always be there for you. Much love and God bless.

We love you.
Mom, Dad, and Brittany

Andrew Randall

Drew,

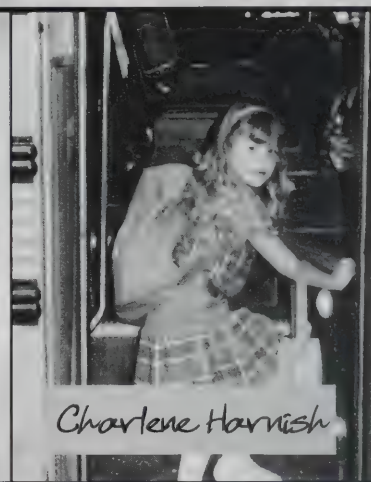

We are so proud of you! You have given us many happy memories. Best wishes for a great future. We love you!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Brit, Cam, and Jo-Jo

Charlene,

Where have the years gone? It seems like just yesterday you were on your way to first grade; eager to learn. We're proud of you!

Love,
Mom and Dad

Charlene Harnish

Fee,

I'm so proud of you. I know you will achieve whatever you set your mind to. Be true to yourself and follow your dreams.

You are my sunshine.
Mom

Felicia Johnson

Kasandra Kalatzidis

Dear Kasandra,

Your very first school picture... where have all the years gone? You have grown into a beautiful young lady with a huge heart and so much talent to share. Take all of the treasures that God has so generously given to you and continue to do your best in developing them. We know that you will go far in whatever path you choose, as long as you stay focused and always remember WWJD. We are so proud of you and we love you so much!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Niko, and Dimitri

A Word From Our Sponsors

For the average person, it may be hard to comprehend just how much hard work and dedication goes into making a high school yearbook. Through encouragement and support, our sponsors have allowed us to produce the best yearbook possible.

One of the greatest things about this yearbook is that it reflects the generous, helpful community that we reside in, and how far its residents are willing to go to help others. It's nice to live in a town that gives support and near other neighboring communities that contribute as well. Not only do they contribute the funds that go into the yearbook, but some even donate their time to help us make it the best it can be.

In return for them caring enough to help our yearbook staff, we strongly encourage that the Agawam High School community supports those businesses who have so kindly supported us.

Emilia Grimaldi;
I have watched you grow over the years, from a girl to a young lady. I just wanted to say good luck. A perfect sister, I am not. But, I am thankful for the one I've got. I love you. - Daniella Maria

Mike Malerba,
I'm so proud of you! I can't believe how fast this year went and that you're graduating. "I hope the days come easy, the moments pass slow and each road leads you where you want to go." I love you.

Brian Costello

Brian,

It seems like only yesterday when we brought you to your first day of nursery school. Those moms back then were right when they said how nice and polite you were. They all said you would grow up to be a heart breaker. We have enjoyed watching you become such a wonderful young man. You'll always be our "Pooh Bear." We hope your future is bright and rewarding with much happiness!

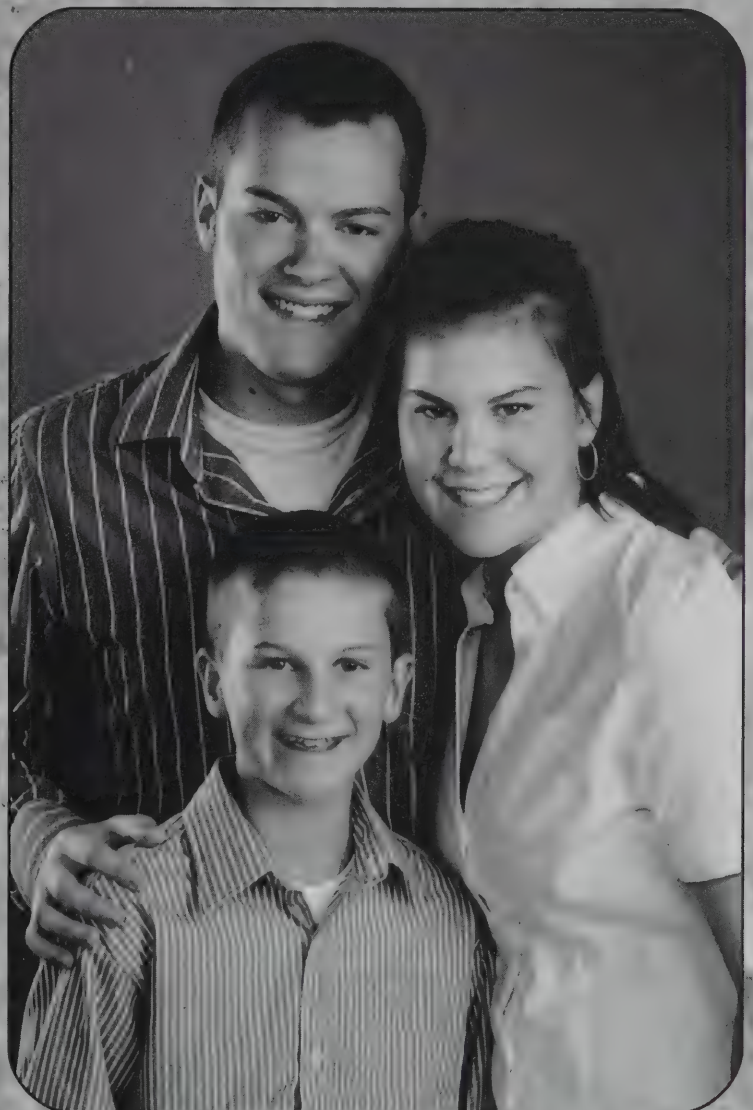

Love,
Mom and Dad

Bri,

What a great big brother you are! You're a great role model to both of us. We'll miss you, but wish you the best life has to offer!

Love,
Meghan and Michael

Dad, Mom, Shab, you guys are my brick house when the Big Bad Wolf comes. Mikayla, Courtney, you two are my carbon copies and I love you to death. Grizzly Men. Rina, you're my dancing queen. Shout out to Layout! Mr. Trahan, thanks for all of your hard work with our senior yearbook. Peace!

- Sahar Kafi

"Get your gaze off tomorrow and let come what may." Mom, Dad, Joel, Justin, and Adam, I couldn't ask for a better family. I love you, Adam, only two more years. To all my friends, thanks. You're the best. Shout out to Layout! Mr. Trahan, you rock. Yearbook '08, RIP. Peace!

- Shaunna Howe

Photography Staff, I'm sorry for deserting you. Shout out to Layout! Sahar, you're an editing master. Eliz, sorry about your computer. You know how it is. Mom and Dad, thanks for it all. Allie, you're my hero! Danny, trophy scars always. Mr. Trahan, best friends! Peace.

- Andrea Simmons

Yearbook Staff, it's been fun. Shout out to Layout! I want to thank everyone for making my senior year a blast. Leeann, best friends, always. Andrea, thanks for taking my computer. Nate, I'm always here. Figgy, Mikayla, Katie, and the Grizzly Men, I love you. My WCV girls, thank you for everything. Mom and Dad, thanks for the college check! Peace.

- Eliz Martino

These four years have been amazing. Just to think that we will all be going our separate ways next year. I am so glad that we will have this yearbook to look back on all of the wonderful memories of our senior year. Thanks Sachem Staff. Liz and Laura, yearbook wouldn't have been the same without you. Love ya.

- Karissa Venne

This was an awesome senior year. Shaunna and Brett, thanks for everything. You guys are my best. Mom and Dad, I love you. Thanks a bunch. Great job on this year's edition, Sachem Staff!

- Noelle Meyers

Mom, Dad, and Matt, thanks for everything. I love you. Alli, Amanda, Ally, Maxine, Becca, Chelsea, Jess, Jen, Katie, and Fife, you're my girls. I can't replace you. Andy, Joel, Blake, Jon, Motts, and Matt, you're my guys. The best there are. Yearbook Staff, the best I could have asked for. No more deadlines. It's finally over!

- Danielle Stelma

Mom, Dad, and Nick, thanks for everything you've done. I love you. Friends, thanks for it all. I love you guys. Sachem Staff, thanks for a great year. Good luck Class of 2008.

- Lindsay Jacks

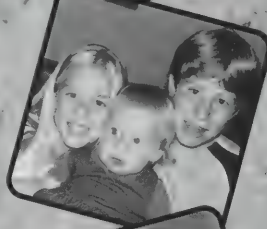

Mom and Ang, thanks for keeping me grounded. I love you. The Fife's, you're my second home and family. To the rest of my friends and family, I appreciate everything and thanks for the support, Sachem Staff, you're awesome. Good luck '08!

- Carla Rosati

Mom, Dad, Tommy, Katie, and Tammy, thank you guys so much. Throughout the years, you have encouraged and supported me in everything I have done. You mean so much to me. Sachem Staff, I had fun working with you this year.

- Julie Gorman

Scott and Sarah, without you two, I would still have a front bumper and hot water for a shower. Thanks for keeping things interesting. I love you both.

- Erica Graves

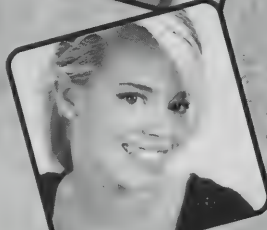

Amy, I owe you everything! Mom and Dad, thanks for all your support. Yearbook '08, we had the best times! Could not have had a better year without this experience. I will always carry you all with me through life. Noelle, through happy and sad, you never made me mad. Mr. Trahan, love.

- Nikki Lownds

Being a part of this yearbook has been a privilege and lots of fun. I want to thank everyone on the staff and Mr. Trahan for putting so much effort into this yearbook. Mom, Dad, and Alex, I owe you guys the world, Chris, the juice is worth the squeeze." I love you. Good luck Class of '08. Let the good times roll.

- Kim Gohn

Here's to a new beginning! I would not have been able to make it without my friends and family! Mom, Dad, and Bianca, thank you for your guidance. I love you. Danielle, for fourteen years, you're my best friend. Thank you! I love you. Good luck Class of 2008!

- Nicole Desimone

"There is nothing in the world that you cannot do, when you believe in you." We're finally done. Good luck Class of 2008. Thank you to everyone that has come along for the journey. Friends, we had fun times and great memories. Family, thanks for supporting me and letting me follow my dreams. I love you so much!

- Ashley Williams

Creating a book of memories is a difficult task, but I think the yearbook staff pulled it off very well. Liz and Karissa, you're both amazing editors and amazing friends. To my friends, I owe the world. Thank you for everything. It's been a great year! "Take care of all your memories, for you cannot relive them."

- Laura D'Angelo

Sam, thank you for everything. Six years strong. Through the good and the bad, you have always been someone I could talk to. I love you, girl! Next year won't be the same without you. Mom and Dad, you have done so much for me. Thank you for all of it. I wouldn't be who I am, if it wasn't for you. I love you both!

- Danielle Gamache

Thanks Mom and Dad for all the support. Ash, thanks for always offering to be my muscle. Emmy, I don't know where I'd be without you or the thirteen years of friendship. Ry, you're always there to pick me up after I fall. Ang, you keep my feet on the ground. Sachem Staff, I had a lot of fun this year.

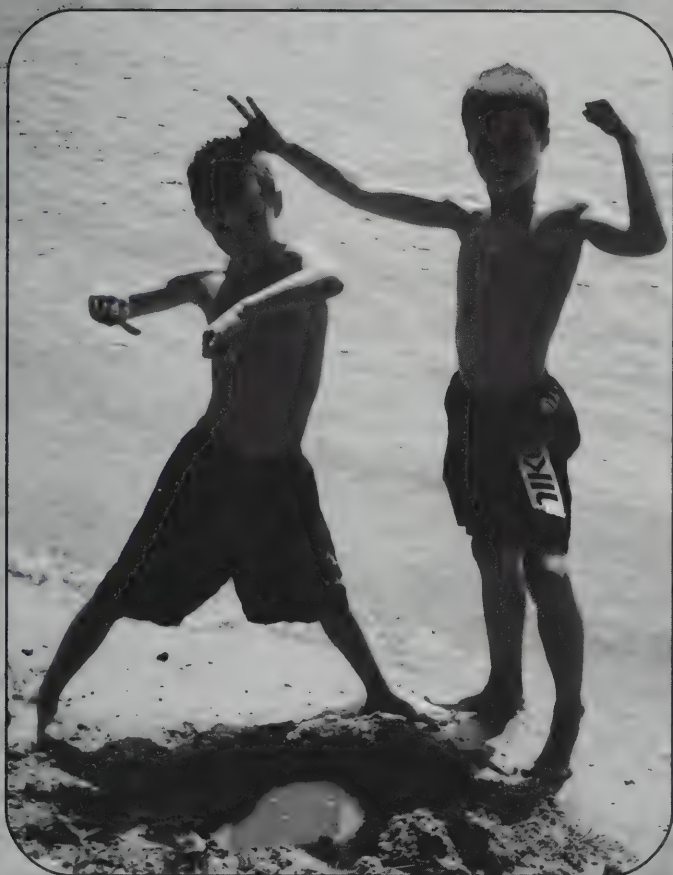

- Brianne Brinkmann

Steven Lucia

We are so thankful that God brought you into our lives. He's given you so many talents throughout the years. Those years went by so fast. You are an encouragement and generous to your family and friends. Believe that dreams do come true. Take chances in life. Persevere with making wise decisions. Always believe in yourself.

We love you always!
Dad and Mom

I Timothy 6:12

Thanks for going fishing with me so I didn't have to go myself... all our memories in New Hampshire... and when you go to college... I get your room.

Thanks,
Chris

Proverbs 18:24

Thanks for being my big brother.
I love you.

THANK YOU!

Completing an entire book is an overwhelming task for even the best of yearbook staffs. Without the assistance of many people, this book may not have come together.

Our yearbook representative, Amy Dunn, has gone above and beyond to get us started this year. We started with a new advisor and new online program, and this summer, she took the time to teach all of us. Amy took our phone calls and questions, reassuring us during each and every step of our journey.

The main component of any good yearbook is quality photographs. Walt Steinmetz and his staff, especially Melissa and Tim, took the time to assist us. This unbelievable team was responsible for student and teacher portraits, media day photos, as well as sports and special events candids. Their professionalism and speedy service was always greatly appreciated.

Multiple sources of information guarantee the accuracy of the yearbook. Without the help of Mrs. Poggi, Mrs. Ledger, and Mrs. Moffatt, the collection of information could have been a tedious and almost impossible task.

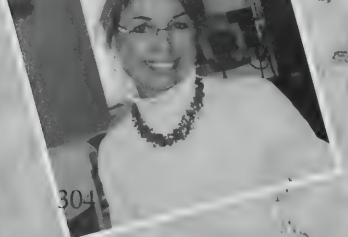

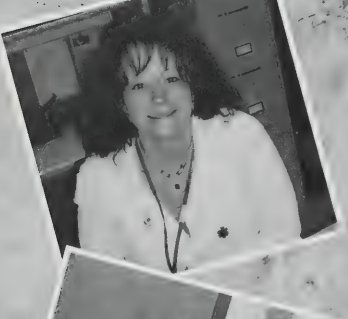

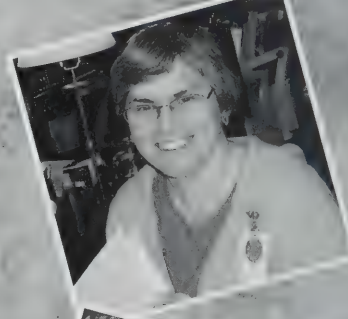

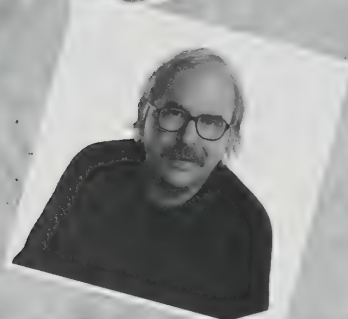

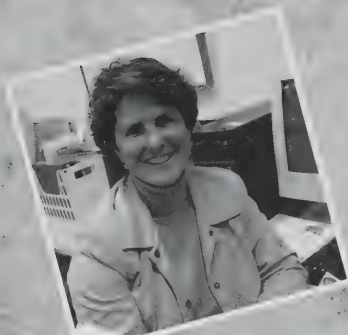

A special thank you needs to be given to Mrs. Costello, who not only provided us with team rosters and scores, but also assisted in the final editing of many of the sports and club pages. She searched down names, made phone calls, and found those missing pictures needed to make the book as complete as possible.

Mrs. Montagna and Mrs. Scheve also deserve our thanks. As on-call editors, they assisted us when deadlines approached and we needed an extra set of eyes to proof our book. In addition, Mrs. Faits, Miss Distefano, and Mrs. Kolodziej provided technical support and advice when it was needed.

The support of our families is also important while we go through this creative process. However, the Grimaldi family went a step above. They were so generous with their time and talents in hosting a first rate pasta dinner to help us raise additional funds.

Finally, we like to thank the entire Agawam High School community for allowing us to be the recorders of your history. Many students, teachers, and administrators contributed to the yearbook's completion. Whether it was allowing us to disrupt a class to take a photograph, granting us the privilege of an interview, or giving us advice and feedback on the book's content, we hope we did you justice.

Best wishes, The 2008 Sachem Staff
